MERCURY HERE DROPS TO 5 BELOW ZERO

Forecasters Say no Immediate Relief is in Sight—Many Sufferers

Circleville experienced its coldest weather of the year Saturday morning when the government thermometer dropped to five degrees below zero, according to an announcement by Dr. H. R. Clarke.

The weather started to turn Friday evening and at midnight was decidedly cold with snow falling steadily. At 7 a.m. Saturday morning one and one half inch of snow had fallen officially.

Columbus, O., Jan. 18.—Ohio was experiencing its coldest weather of the season this morning, according to official reports which were received by the federal weather bureau here.

Eight below zero was the average temperature throughout the state at 9 o'clock, and the mercury was still dropping.

Columbus shivered with a temperature of 6 below at 7 o'clock, and, at 9 o'clock, shuddered in 7 1-2 below weather.

Cincinnati and Toledo both reported eight below.

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Winter tightened its relentless grip on the middle west and the mountain states east of the continental divide today. Smashing records for severity with temperatures ranging from ten to 50 degrees below zero.

In one of the swiftest mercury drops the Great Lakes region has ever known thermometers here dropped from five above zero at 6 p.m. last night to 20 degrees below at 4 a.m.

NO RELIEF

No immediate relief is in sight, said G. A. Donnel, government weather forecaster here, as thermometers continued their steady decline. Temperatures of 25 below were expected here before noon. Suffering was intense.

Temperature records fell everywhere throughout the west, the lowest was recorded at Basin, Mont., last night with a 55 below zero reading. International Falls, Minn., reported a record of 42 below. Des Moines, Ia., experienced 26 below zero weather, the mercury dropped to 20 below in Kansas and ten below in parts of Texas.

A severe blizzard accompanied the frigid blast in western mountain states. Twenty persons are missing near Caspar, who, as that section suffered in the first blizzard in many years. Denver, Colo. and Flagstaff, Ariz., are held in the blizzard's grip.

Livestock throughout Idaho, Montana and other foothills grazing states suffered heavy losses.

Denver, Jan. 18—From all over the Rocky Mountain west today came reports of the terrific cold wave, of deaths attributed to freezing or to fire, of missing persons and of intense suffering, of losses of sheep and cattle to owners, and of sweeping gales piling roads high with impassable barriers of snow in the wake of blizzards which were accompanied by temperatures almost unprecedented.

An Interstate bus operating between Cheyenne and Salt Lake City, and carrying an unknown number of persons, also was unreported. Seven men are lost in the Red desert country near Rock Springs. The temperature there is ranging between 40 and 50 degrees below zero.

Mrs. Leslie Meston and her 4-year-old daughter were dead in a Wheatland, Wyo., hospital of burns which they suffered when their home caught fire from an overheated stove. Another daughter is not expected to live. At Pueblo, Colo., Mrs. J. W. Garnhart and her 4-year-old daughter were asphyxiated while in bed by fumes from a gas stove which was left to burn because of the intense cold.

The fire department was called to the Denny Pickens restaurant at 10:30 a.m. Saturday when clouds of steam issuing from the ventilator and windows gave the appearance of smoke and a fire. However, there was no fire and no damage.

Jersey Teacher Denies Poisoning Children

Pearl Topper, pretty school teacher, is ready to go back to New Jersey to face trial for the alleged attempt to administer poison to ten small children at the Montvale, N. J., Summer camp of the Mary Mallard Society. She steadfastly denied the charge. She was arrested in New York as a fugitive from justice. She is charged with putting arsenic in the cereal of children who were vacationing at the camp last Summer.

PROBE GUARD BRIBERY CASE

Coast Gardsman Has Been In Jail at Port Clinton For Two Weeks

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 18—Exposure of a bribery and liquor running scandal along the shores of Lake Erie, which is said to involve the government coast guard, was being made here today.

The exposure was first indicated late yesterday with the announcement that Ollie Zess, of Port Clinton, Lake Erie coast guardsman, has been held in the Lucas-co jail for the past two weks. He was arrested January 3, but the arrest was not made public until yesterday.

Seven coast guardsmen were arrested in December in connection with the reported distribution by bootleggers of more than $25,000 in bribes at Port Clinton. Three of these men are now being held as military prisoners at Buffalo, N. Y., federal officials here said.

It was indicated that these three prisonerss may have been stationed at the Toledo base previous to their arrest.

Zess was named in a secret indictment, on charges of conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition laws, which was returned by a federal grand jury recently, according to Lee Murlin, assistant United States district attorney.

Zess is charged with being implicated with James Courtney, purporting ring leader in the liquor traffic on Lake Erie. Courtney is also under indictment here following his arrest in Cleveland several weeks ago. H was arrested with Larry Davidson, former government liquor agent and another reputed leader in liquor traffic.

The case of the three men who are being held in Buffalo, is said to center around Courtney. They are W. E. Wynder, W. J. Blakeslee and Joseph Libbey.

Austin says he was "sure it was the end, when the blackness that is Death overtook" him. When asked if there were any visions of life after death, or even a glimmer of pearly gates, he answered, "Not a sign of them, there was only blankness."

VETERANS OF CIVIL, SPANISH WARS BLOCK HOOVER'S PLAN

By WILLIAM S. NEAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The first Congressional attempt to carry out President Hoover's ambitious program for reorganization of the federal government today faced defeat as a result of the refusal of veterans of the Civil and Spanish-American wars to come under the wing of the Veterans bureau which administers benefits to World war soldiers.

The unexpected vigor of the protests lodged with the House committee on expenditures in the executive departments may also effectively check other proposals to carry out the President's program, prohibition reorganization alone appeared unaffected by dissension.

Jealousy of departments and differences of even cabinet officers already threatens defeat of the second proposal before the committee, which is the creation of a bureau of public works. This plan is said to have Mr. Hoover's approval.

Maj. Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the veterans bureau, has approved the Williamson bill which would bring the pension office and the National Soldiers' homes under the veterans bureau.

Arrayed in opposition thus far are representatives of both Civil and Spanish-American war veterans. Secretary of Interior Wilbur and Earl D. Church, commissioner of pensions.

Ex-Senator Rice W. Means stating he has authority to speak for 42,000 survivors of the Civil war and the United Spanish War veterans, explained the opposition. He said:

"These veterans are in favor of placing these three agencies the Veterans bureau, Soldiers' homes and pension office under the secretary of the interior. They are opposed to placing the latter two under the veterans' bureau.

"There is fear in the hearts of Veterans throughout the country they would be injured if these agencies with which they have been doing business for years are swallowed up by the veterans bureau. Such a consolidation, in my opinion, would bring such a nation-wide protest that it would effectually stop all veterans legislation."

Means declared the veterans bureau policy is strongly opposed by the veterans of previous wars.

John Hartnett of Atlantic City, president of the Army and Navy union, suggested turning the veterans bureau over to the pension office.

"Within ten or 15 years the veterans bureau will become almost a pension bureau," he said. "I understand that now 70 per cent of the cases of the bureau are permanent, and that alone makes it practically a pension bureau."

WARNING ISSUED TO DOG OWNERS

Penalty of $1 to be Added to Each Tag After Monday January 20

Dog owners are warned once again by County Auditor Bryce Briggs, that Monday, Jan. 20, is the deadline to secure dog tags for 1930. The number of tags issued were expected to reach the 2,000 mark Saturday but this, however, is a low number as 5,379 dogs were registered at the auditor's office last year. A penalty of $1 will be inflicted on all dog owners whose dogs are not registered by Monday.

Cheering at High School Last Evening Best for a Long Time

Cheering and cheer-leading [illegible] the Circleville high school [illegible] the Friday's evening's activities was better than has been heard and seen in the Red and [illegible] school for a long, long time.

A newly organized pep club about 150 students, all stood one side of the gymnasium, furnished loud and coordinated cheering throughout the game and received favorable comment from numerous persons who attended the contests.

A feature of the cheering was the cheer-leading by Paul Wallace and Dudley Mills. The boys were attired in bright red waists tied with a black bow and wore black trousers. The boys put more action into their work and looked more like real cheer leaders than they have in any contest since they have been leading the yells.

Another feature was skit put on by six of the high school girls between halves. Decked out in red sweaters with Circleville in black across the front they furnished entertainment between halves. The girls led the students in singing Alma Mater, Red and Black. The girls were Peggy Courtright, Mary Margaret Moore, Virginia Richey, Helen Yates, Harriet Mason and Jinsy Mader.

It is the expectation of this sextet to furnish a different form of amusemnt between the halves of each home contest.

TWO ARRESTED FOR BREAKING LIQUOR LAWS

Pleas of Guilty Entered Following Raids by Sheriff's Office Friday

The sheriff's office swooped down on two Pickaway-co residences Friday and as a result two men were each fined $200 and costs by Probate Judge E. A. Brown for violation of the liquor laws.

The first raid was made on the home of Harvey Kirby of the Darbyville-Williamsport-pk about four miles from Circleville, where implements for the manufacture of intoxicating liquor were said to be found. The implements included a mash barrel half full, a boiler, a heater and one half gallon of finished product. The entire find was located in the upstairs of Kerby's residence.

When taken before Judge Brown he pleaded guilty to the charge of possessing intoxicating liquor and was fined $200 and costs. He pleaded not guilty to the charge of possessing implements and will be given a hearing on the charge Monday.

He stands committed to Cincinnati until the fine and costs are paid.

The second raid was at the home of W. T. Plummer, Scioto-twp, who was fined $200 and costs when he pleaded guilty to the charge of possession.

Forty-eight bottles of beer, 10 gallons of brew, 81 empty bottles and numerous bottle caps were found in the kitchen at his home.

Plummer was also committed to the workhouse until the fine and costs are paid.

The raids were both made by the entire sheriff's force and Matt C. Wilson, state prohibition agent.

CAPONE FACES UALE MURDER

Investigation by Authorities Prove Scarface Al Is Implicated

CHICAGO, Jan. 18— Maj. Calvil Goddard, ballistics expert, today had definitely placed the murder of Frankie Uale, Brooklyn gang leader, at the doorstep of the "Scarface Al" Capone forces with positive identification of a Capone machine gun as the weapon that riddled Uale with bullets.

Goddard identified the bullets taken from Uale's body as being fired from a machine gun found in the home of Fred Burke, who is wanted as a participant in the St. Valentine's day massacre of seven rival Capone gangsters.

This same gun was used to slaughter the seven "Bugs" Moran gangsters, Goddard has found after tests in which he was assisted by Detectives Harry Butts and Stanley Gormen of New York.

Authorities here fear that Capone will be the victim of reprisal at the guns of New York gang interests when he is released from his Philadelphia jail cell, so directly has the affair been laid at the door of his henchmen.

Goddard and Coronor Herman Bundeson refused to comment further in the identification.

COUNTY MAN TAKEN AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Was Father-in-Law of Postmaster Foresman—Lived Here All His Life

Tecumseh Millar, aged 79, highly respected and prominent citizen and father-in-law of George P. Foresman, postmaster, died Friday at 5:30 p.m. after an illness of six months from a complication of diseases. He had been a lifetime resident of Pickaway-co and was born in Harrison-twp, July 23, 1851. His parents were Adam and Nancy Howell Millar, also natives of Pickaway-co.

Mr. Millar was a leading agriculturist and stock raiser during his entire lifetime. The Millar family had a prominent place in the history of the settlement of Pickaway-co. He remained on the home farm in Harrison-twp until his marriage in 1874 to Jennie Wiegand, who died in 1876.

On February 5, 1879, he was married to Lucy M. Staige who survives him, with their one daughter, Mrs. Hattie Foresman, wife of the postmaster, George Foresman. A son, Adam T. Millar, died in 1901 when almost 21 years of age.

Mr. Millar is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Harriett Humiston, of Vera Beach, Florida.

Funeral services for Mr. Millar have been arranged for Monday at 2:30 p.m. at the residence in 325 S. Court-st, with the Rev. Franklin McElfresh of the Methodist church, of which Mr. Millar was a member, officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery in charge of the W. H. Albaugh Co.

PLANE CRASH CLAIMS PILOT

Launch Investigation in Fatality at Jacksonville, Florida, Friday

JACKSONVILLE, FLA., Jan. 18—An investigation was launched today into the cause of an airplane crash here late yesterday which claimed the life of Emanuel S. Marguiles, of Newark, N. J. the pilot.

V. E. Moon, of Maplewood, N. J. his companion was injured. At a local hospital to which he was removed attendants described his condition as not being serious. He sustained, however, a number of minor bruises.

Marguiles died at the hospital several hours later after the crash. He never regained consciusness, hospital attendants said.

The plane plunged 150 feet to the ground when the motor apparently failed. The ship was badly crushed, and Marguiles was caught beneath the wreckage and badly mangled.

His body probably will be shipped today to Newark for burial.

MEASLES HIT CITY SCHOOLS

With many cases of measles reported, there were 116 children absent Friday morning and 111 Friday afternoon from the High-st school building. This is about one half the number of pupils attending that school. Most of the cases of measles in Circleville are Main-st and north of Main-st.

Maj. Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the veterans bureau, has approved the Williamson bill which would bring the pension office and the National Soldiers' homes under the veterans bureau.

Arrayed in opposition thus far are representatives of both Civil and Spanish-American war veterans, Secretary of Interior Wilbur and Earl D. Church, commissioner of pensions.

Ex-Senator Rice W. Means, stating he has authority to speak for 42,000 survivors of the Civil war and the United Spanish War veterans, explained the opposition. He said:

"These veterans are in favor of placing these three agencies—the Veterans bureau, Soldiers' homes and pension office—under the secretary of the interior. They are opposed to placing the latter two under the veterans' bureau.

"There is fear in the hearts of Veterans throughout the country they would be injured if these agencies with which they have been doing business for years are swallowed up by the veterans bureau. Such a consolidation, in my opinion, would bring such a nation-wide protest that it would effectually stop all veterans legislation."

Means declared the veterans bureau policy is strongly opposed by the veterans of previous wars.

John Hartnett of Atlantic City, president of the Army and Navy union, suggested turning the veterans bureau over to tne pension office.

"Within ten or 15 years the veterans bureau will become almost a pension bureau," he said. "I understand that now 70 per cent of the cases of the bureau are permanent, and that alone makes it practically a pension bureau."

WARNING ISSUED TO DOG OWNERS

Penalty of $1 to be Added to Each Tag After Monday January 20

Dog owners are warned once again by County Auditor Bryce Briggs, that Monday, Jan. 20, is the deadline to secure dog tags for 1930. The number of tags issued were expected to reach the 2,000 mark Saturday but this, however, is a low number as 3,379 dogs were registered at the auditor's office last year. A penalty of $1 will be inflicted on all dog owners whose dogs are not registered by Monday.

Cheering at High School Last Evening Best for a Long Time

Cheering and cheer-leading at the Circleville high school during the Friday's evening's activities was better than has been heard and seen in the Red and Black school for a long, long time.

A newly organized pep club of about 150 students, all stood on one side of the gymnasium, furnished loud and coordinated cheering throughout the game and received favorable comment from numerous persons who attended the contests.

A feature of the cheering was the cheer-leading by Paul Wallace and Dudley Mills. The boys were attired in bright red waists tied with a black bow and wore black trousers. The boys put more action into their work and looked more like real cheer leaders than they have in any contest since they have been leading the yells.

Another feature was skit put on by six of the high school girls between halves. Decked out in red sweaters with Circleville in black across the front they furnished entertainment between halves. The girls led the students in singing Alma Mater, Red and Black. The girls were Peggy Courtright, Mary Margaret Moore, Virginia Richey, Helen Yates, Harriet Mason and Jinsy Mader.

It is the expectation of this sextet to furnish a different form of amusemnt between the halves of each home contest.

TWO ARRESTED FOR BREAKING LIQUOR LAWS

Pleas of Guilty Entered Following Raids by Sheriff's Office Friday

The sheriff's office swooped down on two Pickaway-co residences Friday and as a result two men were each fined $200 and costs by Probate Judge E. A. Brown for violation of the liquor laws.

The first raid was made on the home of Harvey Kirby of the Darbyville-Williamsport-pk about four miles from Circleville, where implements for the manufacture of intoxicating liquor were said to be found. The implements included a mash barrel half full, a boiler, a heater and one half gallon of finished product. The entire find was located in the upstairs of Kerby's residence.

When taken before Judge Brown he pleaded guilty to the charge of possessing intoxicating liquor and was fined $200 and costs. He pleaded not guilty to the charge of possessing implements and will be given a hearing on the charge Monday.

He stands committed to Cincinnati until the fine and costs are paid.

The second raid was at the home of W. T. Plummer, Sciotowp, who was fined $200 and costs when he pleaded guilty to the charge of possession.

Forty-eight bottles of beer, 10 gallons of brew, 81 empty bottles and numerous bottle caps were found in the kitchen at his home.

Plummer was also committed to the workhouse until the fine and costs are paid.

The raids were both made by the entire sheriff's force and Matt C. Wilson, state prohibition agent.

Scioto Valley Service Disrupted From 7:20 a. m. to 10:20 a. m.

A broken high tension wire north of the city at 6:45 a.m. Saturday caused Scioto Valley traction service to be disrupted from that hour until 10:20 a.m. The tension wire was broken by the extreme cold weather which took hold of this vicinity late Friday evennig.

MEETING FACES DIFFICULTIES

Demand of Several World Powers May Make London Conference Failure

LONDON, Jan. 18—Their first day in London has convinced the American delegates to the five-power naval disarmament conference that the difficulties in the way of anything like complete naval agreements covering all categories are virtually insurmountable.

Japan's demand for a 70 per cent. maximum cruiser strength with Great Britain and America, France's suspicious and intransigeant atitude toward the whole undertaking ,and Italy's demand for parity with France coupled with numerous kinks still to be ironed out in the British-American adjustment with regard to capita ships and cruisers all combine to impress the newly arrived Americans with the enormity of the undertaking ahead of them.

The positions can be reconciled in the thre days before the conference actually assembles, but the chances are regarded pessimistically. In the end, most of the American delegates believe the probably be limited to an extention of the battleship building holiday, which will enable the British and American governments to save three-quarters of a billion dollars each would have spent in the next ten years under the terms of the Washington treaty.

Liberal Candidate For Brazil Chief

Mr. Getulio Vargas, governor of Rio Grande de Sul, Brazil, and candidate of the Liberal Party for the presidency of the republic, is said to be the choice of a great percentage of the voting population. The state of Minas Ceraes, with a population of more than eight million persons, is said to be backing him.

CAPONE FACES UALE MURDER

Investigation by Authorities Prove Scarface Al Is Implicated

CHICAGO, Jan. 18— Maj. Calvil Goddard, ballistics expert, today had definitely placed the murder of Frankie Uale, Brooklyn gang leader, at the doorstep of the "Scarface Al" Capone forces with positive identification of a Capone machine gun as the weapon that riddled Uale with bullets.

Goddard identified the bullets taken from Uale's body as being fired from a machine gun found in the home of Fred Burke, who is wanted as a participant in the St. Valentine's day massacre of seven rival Capone gangsters.

This same gun was used to slaughter the seven "Bugs" Moran gangsters, Goddard has found after tests in which he was assisted by Detectives Harry Butts and Stanley Gormen of New York.

Authorities here fear that Capone will be the victim of reprisal at the guns of New York gang interests when he is released from his Philadelphia jail cell, so directly has the affair been laid at the door of his henchmen.

Goddard and Coronor Herman Bundeson refused to comment further in the identification.

PRISONERS TO GET PAROLES

Cases of 27 Are Continued, 36 Men Granted Permanent Releases

LONDON, O., Jan. 18—Twenty-one of the 50 prisoners who sought parole from the London prison fram at the January meeting of the board of clemency were successful, according to the parole list which was released by the board today.

Conditional releases were given to two prisonrs to be deported, the cases of 27 prisoners were continued, 29 men were granted their final releases from parole, or were dischargd and four were returned for violations of their paroles.

Paroles which were granted include:

Phillip Flannigan, who was received Dec. 18, 1929, from Stark-co to serve from one to three years for non-support, to be released March 15.

L. S. Hastings, who was received Dec. 18, 1929, from Stark-co to serve from one to three years for issuing a check without sufficient funds, to be released March 1.

David Myers, who was received Dec. 14, 1927, from Lorain-co to serve from one to seven years for larceny, to be released March 1.

Mike Hunters, who was received June 29, 1928, from Lorain-co to serve from one to 20 years for manslaughter, to be released March 1.

COUNTY MAN TAKEN AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Was Father-in-Law of Postmaster Foresman—Lived Here All His Life

Tecumseh Millar, aged 79, highly respected and prominent citizen and father-in-law of George P. Foresman, postmaster, died Friday at 5:30 p.m. after an illness of six months from a complication of diseases. He had been a lifetime resident of Pickaway-co and was born in Harrison-twp, July 23, 1851. His parents were Adam and Nancy Howell Millar, also natives of Pickaway-co.

Mr. Millar was a leading agriculturist and stock raiser during his entire lifetime. The Millar family had a prominent place in the history of the settlement of Pickaway-co. He remained on the home farm in Harrison-twp until his marriage in 1874 to Jennie Wiegand, who died in 1876.

On February 5, 1879, he was married to Lucy M. Staige who survives him, with their one daughter, Mrs. Hattie Foresman, wife of the postmaster, George Foresman. A son, Adam T. Millar, died in 1901 when almost 21 years of age.

Mr. Millar is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Harriett Humiston, of Vera Beach, Florida.

Funeral services for Mr. Millar have been arranged for Monday at 2:30 p.m. at the residence in 325 S. Court-st, with the Rev. Franklin McElfresh of the Methodist church, of which Mr. Millar was a member, officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery in charge of the W. H. Albaugh Co.

PLANE CRASH CLAIMS PILOT

Launch Investigation in Fatality at Jacksonville, Florida, Friday

JACKSONVILLE, FLA., Jan. 18—An investigation was launched today into the cause of an airplane crash here late yesterday which claimed the life of Emanuel S. Marguiles, of Newark, N. J. the pilot.

V. E. Moon, of Maplewood, N. J. his companion was injured. At a local hospital to which he was removed attendants described his condition as not being serious. He sustained, however, a number of minor bruises.

Marguiles died at the hospital several hours later after the crash. He never regained consciusness, hospital attendants said.

The plane plunged 150 feet to the ground when the motor apparently failed. The ship was badly crushed, and Marguiles was caught beneath the wreckage and badly mangled.

His body probably will be shipped today to Newark for burial.

MEASLES HIT CITY SCHOOLS

With many cases of measles reported, there were 110 children absent Friday morning and 111 Friday afternoon from the High-st school building. This is about one half the number of pupils attending that school. Most of the cases of measles in Circleville are Main-st and north of Main-st.

MOTOR BACKFIRES DOES $5 DAMAGE

Firemen Give Two Causes for Damage to Parked Chevrolet Coach

Backfiring or faulty electric wiring was the cause Saturday morning of a fire in a Chevrolet coach parked in front of the Penney store on N. Court-st. Most of the fire was put out by snow, thrown on the engine by spectators.

The damage was mostly to the wires, and was estimated at $5.

Cultivating Gratitude.

Rev. James H. Snowden says, "We should cultivate thankfulness because we owe it to God because the absence of it narrows our hearts and makes us unfit and unable to receive his mercies; and because the presence of this grace enlarges our capacities and multiplies our blessings. To be ungrateful is to be selfish and sullen, but to be thankful is to be gracious and happy."

The church is the place where our gratitude is to reach its highest and holiest expression. Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?

Creamed Comments On S.S. Lesson

©1927 D CARL YODER

Jesus begins His ministry, Matthew 4:12-25 for Sunday, Jan. 18th.

Matthew omits much in the life of Jesus which transpired after the record of last Sunday's lesson. Jesus had traveled considerably, done much healing, invited those He called later to follow Him; all this had stirred such opposition that He chose Capernaum as His home from which point he traveled preaching and doing good.

V. 17. "From that time began Jesus to preach and to say, Repent ye, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." This lesson dates from the time John the Baptist was imprisoned. Jesus took His message. Repent; this was the subject of Peter's first sermon; since it is the theme of the three greatest preachers of the world it must be very important.

Vs. 18, 19. "And walking by the sea of Galilee, he saw two brother, Simon, who is called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea; for they were fishers. And he saith unto them. Come ye after me and I will make you fishers of men." These men were believers in him but they had not yet been his professed followers; they were humble folks but willing to follow and be of service; Jesus chose these as his helpers because he could get them.

V. 20. "And they straightway left the nets and followed him." It was the sharp action of straightway that made these fishermen such positive characters. By the street of By and By one arrives at the house of Never. Tomorrow is the devil's word, his most effective temptation.

Vs. 21, 22. "And going from thence he saw two other brothers, James, the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, in the boat with Zebedee their father mending their nets and he called them." These two boys were his cousins sons of a well-to-do family, not spoiled because of home luxuries; their immediate decision to do right made them sterling characters.

V. 23. "And Jesus went about in all Galilee, teaching in their synagogue and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of diseases and all manner of sickness among the people." Here is a suggestion of his program then and now; a missionary with teaching, preaching and healing ministeries; it was not enough to have a home base where he could say come; there were so many needs that had to be met beyond the home limits that with it was 'Go' as well as "Come.'

V. 24. "And the report of him went forth into all Syria: and they brought to him all that were sick, holden with divers diseases and torments, possessed with demons and epileptic and palsied; and he healed them." The good he did traveled faster than he could go in person, so that everywhere he was met by crowds of needy people. A working Christian principle is to know the imperative needs of people and go to the limit to supply them.

V. 25. "And there followed him great multitudes from Galilee and Decapolis and Jerusalem and These were the followers that were Judea from beyond the Jordan." made such for what they could get out of Jesus; few were numbered with these that were faithful. It is important that the human need be cared for; but there is a spiritual need that is more significant; some one or something reigns as the controlling force of mind and soul; the great need of Christ reigning within is the supreme spiritual need.

SHOULD RIVALRY AND COMPETITION BE USED AS A STIMULUS AND INCENTIVE IN RELIGIOUS TEACHINGS?

It is perfectly clear that rivalry in the sense of beating the other fellow is common in business and politics and even in denominationalism. It is also true that this is one of the most serious ills from which the world suffers. Society in all its phases is so organized that this natural tendency is stimulated on every hand. It does not need cultivation under the name of religion, but it does greatly need to be subimated.

The Cyclopedia of Education has the following statement on the subject: "The tendency of modern practice is away from the use of emulation which is characterized by sharp personal competition and ends, in unsociable attitudes of pupils toward each other and in the direction of the measurement of qualities and attainments in terms of standards of efficiency."

Ideals of service are not normally developed when competition is the dominating factor. Rivalry develops personalities that are egotistical and anti-social. Competition and rivalry have a worthy place if one considers the present effort with one's own past which achievement or with a worthy ideal he aims to attain. Christian education should develop the spirit of cooperation and direct it toword worthy ends.

Advise well before you begin. then act with promptitude.

Doing nothing for others is the undoing of ourselves.

Be loving and you will never want for love.

Ability wins us the esteem of the true men, luck that of the people

A great heart has no room for the memory of a wrong

The pessimist burns his bridges behind him and then crosses them before he gets there

The true test of civilization is the kind of man the country turns out.

The evil that men do lives after them the good is often interred with their bones.—Shakespeare

Better the end with satisfaction than the beginning with enthusiasm.

If the direction of a step is correct, the length of the step will take care of itself eventually.

The test of greatness is the way one faces the eternal day by day

Every failure teaches a man something if he will learn.

When two men exchange ideas each has two.

God's laws are not for our restriction but for our enlargement.

Cleverness without character is very barren.

Those who bring sunshine to the lives of others, cannot keep it from themselves.

Patience and diligence like faith remove mountains.

Cultivating Gratitude.

Rev. James H. Snowden says, "We should cultivate thankfulness because we owe it to God because the absence of it narrows our hearts and makes us unfit and unable to receive his mercies; and because the presence of this grace enlarges our capacities and multiplies our blessings. To be ungrateful is to be selfish and sullen, but to be thankful is to be gracious and happy."

The church is the place where our gratitude is to reach its highest and holiest expression. Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?

Creamed Comments On S.S. Lesson

©1927 D. CARL YODER

Jesus begins His ministry, Matthew 4:12-25 for Sunday, Jan. 18th.

Matthew omits much in the life of Jesus which transpired after the record of last Sunday's lesson. Jesus had traveled considerably, done much healing, invited those He called later to follow Him; all this had stirred such opposition that He chose Capernaum as His home from which point he traveled preaching and doing good.

V. 17. "From that time began Jesus to preach and to say, Repent ye, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." This lesson dates from the time John the Baptist was inprisoned. Jesus took His message. Repent; this was the subject of Peter's first sermon; since it is the theme of the three greatest preachers of the world it must be very important.

Vs. 18, 19. "And walking by the sea of Galilee, he saw two brother, Simon, who is called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea; for they were fishers. And he saith unto them. Come ye after me and I will make you fishers of men." These men were believers in him but they had not yet been his professed followers; they were humble folks but willing to follow and be of service; Jesus chose these as his helpers because he could get them.

V. 20. "And they straightway left the nets and followed him." It was the sharp action of straightway that made these fishermen such positive characters. By the street of By and By one arrives at the house of Never. Tomorrow is the devil's word, his most effective temptation.

Vs. 21, 22. "And going from thence he saw two other brothers, James, the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, in the boat with Zebedee their father mending their nets and he called them." These two boys were his cousins sons of a well-to-do family, not spoiled because of home luxuries; their immediate decision to do right made them sterling characters.

V. 23. "And Jesus went about in all Galilee, teaching in their synagogue and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of diseases and all manner of sickness among the people." Here is a suggestion of his program then and now; a missionary with teaching, preaching and healing ministeries; it was not enough to have a home base where he could say come; there were so many needs that had to be met beyond the home limits that with it was 'Go' as well as "Come.'

V. 24. "And the report of him went forth into all Syria; and they brought to him all that were sick, holden with divers diseases and torments, possessed with demons and epileptic and palsied; and he healed them." The good he did traveled faster than he could go in person, so that everywhere he was met by crowds of needy people. A working Christian principle is to know the imperative needs of people and go to the limit to supply them.

V. 25. "And there followed him great multitudes from Galilee and Decapolis and Jerusalem and These were the followers that were Judea from beyond the Jordan." made such for what they could get out of Jesus; few were numbered with these that were faithful. It is important that the human need be cared for; but there is a spiritual need that is more significant; some one or something reigns as the controlling force of mind and soul; the great need of Christ reigning within is the supreme spiritual need.

SHOULD RIVALRY AND COMPETITION BE USED AS A STIMULUS AND INCENTIVE IN RELIGIOUS TEACHINGS?

It is perfectly clear that rivalry in the sense of beating the other fellow is common in business and politics and even in denominationalism. It is also true that this is one of the most serious ills from which the world suffers. Society in all its phases is so organized that this natural tendency is stimulated on every hand. It does not need cultization under the name of religion, but it does greatly need to be sublimated.

The Cyclopedia of Education has the following statement on the subject: "The tendency of modern practice is away from the use of emulation which is characterized by sharp personal competition and ends, in unsociable attitudes of pupils toward each other and in the direction of the measurement of qualities and attainments in terms of standards of efficiency."

Ideals of service are not normally developed when competition is the dominating factor. Rivalry develops personalities that are egotistical and anti-social. Competition and rivalry have a worthy place if one considers the present effort with one's own past which achievement or with a worthy ideal he aims to attain. Christian education should develop the spirit of cooperation and direct it toword worthy ends.

Tigers Play Great Game To Trounce Y Day

GUTHRIEMEN DISPLAY ABILITY UNDER FIRE TO DELIGHT BIG HOME CROWD; SCORE IS 20-15

Giving their many followers a never-to-be forgotten treat in the way of basketball, the Circleville high school hardwood artists outplayed, outpassed, outsmarted and outshot a rough and tough Y Day school team of Columbus Friday evening and won their first home game of the season by a score of 20-15 and maybe you think it wasn't a battle.

Playing a tight man-for-man defense that Y Day could not penetrate in the first half with any regularity, the Tigers showed as sweet a defensive game in the first two periods as anyone would want to see. Y Day had scored but two points during the entire first half.

But coming out for the second half it was an entirely different story. Y Day was determined not to lose the contest and was bent on victory by any means at hand. As a result the affair from the start of the third quarter until two men had gone out on fouls and several more were on the verge of the same thing was nothing was crash and bang, with Circleville boys on the receiving end of most of the crashes.

BEGIN ADVANCE

Y Day began to creep up and although the Tigers outscored them in the third period, the fourth started like a defeat for the Guthriemen. But it never came. The Red and Black athletes kept their heads, like only a good basketball team should, and when their lead was cut to 16-15 with only four minutes to play they kept going just as though the score was 100 to 0. Y. Day continued its football tactics and Alsdorf, curley-haired forward, was removed after commission of his fourth foul. Quigley was sent to showers, too.

Counting four foul shots after they had put an end to Y Day's scoring ended the contest and Circleville had won its first home contest.

START IS FAST

The game started fast with Y Day taking the tip-off but after a little passing, Circleville guards took the ball. Several shots were missed before Davis counted the opening point on a charity shot.

More fast passing and an exchange of the ball several times found Nickerson open near the foul line and a neat shot tallied two points for the Guthriemen. No further scoring was done in the opening period.

The second quarter started with Weaver breaking loose under the net for a pot shot for Y Day. Jaggy Davis connected for a goal and Dean White hit for two goals. The game was beginning to get rougher with the result that when the half ended two Y Day men had two fouls on them and one other man had one personal Circlevilles' only foul was on Davis.

The third quarter was faster and rougher than either of the first two. Jaggy Davis broke from Withrow for two goals shortly after the half started, one on a sweet follow shot and the other after breaking and taking a pass under the net. Russell followed a shot for a goal and counted a foul shot to give the Tigers a 14 total. Weaver scored a bucket for Y Day and Alsdorf, Withrow and Quigley scored free throws.

The third period ended 14-7 with Circleville still ahead.

4th QUARTER HECTIC

Then came a period that was hectic from start to finish.

Weaver and Withrow broke for baskets to cut the Circleville lead by four. Two foul shots were added to the Tiger score and their total stood at 16. Columbus scored enough foul shots to raise their total to 15 with the locals still possessing 16. And that was as far as Y Day went. Nickerson scored two fouls, Clark added one, and Davis added another to raise the Tiger total to 20 and the game ended.

TEAM PLAYS WELL

Jaggy Davis has not played a better game this year than he did Friday. Holding the fast Withrow to one basket and four fouls he did plenty of defensive work and contributed eight points to the Tiger total. Nickerson played a sweet floor game and like Dean White was digging the ball throughout the game. Russell played the taller Weaver nicely and although the Y Day center was high point man for his team this boy is plenty tough and when he gets loose is tough to stop. Clark played "Cocky" Alsdorf to a standstill and although this Y Day captain had the ball quite often and couldn't get anywhere near a scoring location and had to be content with one foul.

A. B. Sears, of Wooster College, refereed the game.

WASHINGTON DROPS GAME

Tiger Reserves Led By Zeke Zimmer Hand Out 24-13 Preliminary Defeat

With Zeke Zeimer, Good and Stout leading the offensive the Circleville high school reserves team defeated the Washington-twp tossers Friday in a preliminary to th Tiger-Y Day game by the score of 24-13.

The reserves started with a lead of 6-3 in the first quarter and increased this to 19-5 at the end of the half.

The third period ended with the reserves still with their 19 total while Washington scored four points. The reserves scored five times in the final session while Washington was getting four points.

Zeimer scored five goals and a foul, Good three and Stout two goals to lead the scorers. M. Leist did most of the Washington-twp scoring.

Reason for Goodness

Beckie, usually a lively tot to whom keeping quiet was a stranger, had been wonderfully repressed at the day's session of Sunday school, and when it was over her appreciative teacher expressed approval by saying: "Beckie, dear, you have been a very good little girl today." "Yes'm," was the solemnly assenting reply. "I couldn't help being good. I got a stiff neck."—Brockton Enterprise.

Sore Throats and Coughs

Quickly Relieved By This Safe Prescription.

Here's a doctor's prescription that is really throat insurance. Sore or irritated throats are relieved and soothed almost instantly with the very first swallow. About 90% of all coughs are caused by an irritated throat: consequently for most coughs too there is nothing better than this famous prescription—it goes direct to the internal cause. It is put up under the name Thoxine and is guaranteed to stop coughs and relieve sore throats in 15 minutes or your money will be refunded. Singers and speakers find Thoxine invaluable.

The remarkable thing about Thoxine is that while it relieves almost instantly, it contains nothing harmful, is pleasant to take and safe for the whole family. Get Thoxine 35c 60c and $1.20 bottles. Sold by Hamilton Ryan and all other good drug stores.—Adv.

DERBY, MUHLENBERG BOYS FEATURE COUNTY GAMES

Muhlenberg-twp boys were handed a surprise package at Derby Friday evening in a county league struggle when Derby's boys won a fast 20-16 victory. Muhlenberg started its second team and before the smoke of the first quarter had cleared away the varsity five was in their but the damage had been done. Derby had a lead which was never relinquished and try as hard as they could Muhlenberg could not overcome the handicap.

Mathews, Derby forward, was the star of the contest. This boy swished the leather through the net for 15 of his teams 20 points. Seven field goals and one foul made up his total. Graham did plenty of neat guarding for the Derby boys and deserved much favorable comment.

The Derby and the Muhlenberg-twp girls played to an 18-18 tie.

GIRLS UPSET

Ashville's veteran tossers defeated Scioto at Ashville by a score of 27-14. Bowers and McGlone were in the limelight all through the game by their clever playing. Ashville girls lost their first contest of the season at the hands of the Scioto girls by the score of 19-13. Beulah Carfrey starred for Scioto.

New Holland's teams won both their games, the boys defeating Monroe 27-13 and the girls winning their contest, 24-11.

Williamsport was victorious in both its encounters, the boys minus Tommy Tomlinson, taking Jackson by a 30-17 score. The girls won a fast hard played game by a 10-5 count. The girls' game was fast from the start and was decided by close guarding.

Walnut boys and girls split even in double header, the girls defeating Perry girls and the boys losing to Perry lads. The score of the girls' game was 38-2 and the boys was 15-6.

AMANDA DEFEATED

Both Amanda girls and boys were defeated by Pleasantville Friday evening, the girls losing 51-10 and the boys, 15-11.

Mt. Sterling boys edged West Jefferson, 14-13 in a hotly contested contest and the Mt. Sterling girls defeated West Jefferson by a 35-18 score.

GRANDVIEW IS VICTORIOUS

Granville Defeated 22-21 In Fast Central Buckeye League Contest

Grandview high school basketball team of the newly organized Central Buckeye association defeated the highly touted Grandville team of the same league Friday night at Grandview by the close score of 22-21.

Both teams showed exceptional strength and with the sound of the opening whistle until the final blast was heard. The game was fast and well played.

Circleville travels to Grandville for a league game and on Friday meets Grandview here in another league contest.

Tigers Play Great Game To Trounce Y Day

GUTHRIEMEN DISPLAY ABILITY UNDER FIRE TO DELIGHT BIG HOME CROWD; SCORE IS 20-15

Giving their many followers a never-to-be forgotten treat in the way of basketball, the Circleville high school hardwood artists outplayed, outpassed, outsmarted and outshot a rough and tough Y Day school team of Columbus Friday evening and won their first home game of the season by a score of 20-15 and maybe you think it wasn't a battle.

Playing a tight man-for-man defense that Y Day could not penetrate in the first half with any regularity, the Tigers showed as sweet a defensive game in the first two periods as anyone would want to see. Y Day had scored but two points during the entire first half.

But coming out for the second half it was an entirely different story. Y Day was determined not to lose the contest and was bent on victory by any means at all. As a result the affair from the start of the third quarter until two men had gone out on fouls and several more were on the verge of the same thing was nothing was crash and bang, with Circleville boys on the receiving end of most of the crashes.

BEGIN ADVANCE

Y Day began to creep up and although the Tigers outscored them in the third period, the fourth started like a defeat for the Guthriemen. But it never came. The Red and Black athletes kept their heads, like only a good basketball team should, and when their lead was cut to 16-15 with only four minutes to play they kept going just as though the score was 100 to 0. Y. Day continued its football tactics and Alsdorf, curley-haired forward, was removed after commission of his fourth foul. Quigley was sent to showers, too.

Counting four foul shots after they had put an end to Y Day's scoring ended the contest and Circleville had won its first home contest.

START IS FAST

The game started fast with Y Day taking the tip-off but after a little passing, Circleville guards took the ball. Several shots were missed before Davis counted the opening point on a charity shot.

More fast passing and an exchange of the ball several times found Nickerson open near the foul line and a neat shot tallied two points for the Guthriemen. No further scoring was done in the opening period.

The second quarter started with Weaver breaking loose under the net for a pot shot for Y Day. Jaggy Davis connected for a goal and Dean White hit for two goals. The game was beginning to get rougher with the result that when the half ended two Y Day men had two fouls on them and one other man had one personal. Circlevilles' only foul was on Davis.

The third quarter was faster and rougher than either of the first two. Jaggy Davis broke from Withrow for two goals shortly after the half started, one on a sweet follow shot and the other after breaking and taking a pass under the net. Russell followed a shot for a goal and counted a foul shot to give the Tigers a 14 total. Weaver scored a bucket for Y Day and Alsdorf, Withrow and Quigley scored free throws.

The third period ended 14-7 with Circleville still ahead.

4th QUARTER HECTIC

Then came a period that was hectic from start to finish.

Weaver and Withrow broke for baskets to cut the Circleville lead by four. Two foul shots were added to the Tiger score and their total stood at 16. Columbus scored enough foul shots to raise their total to 15 with the locals still possessing 16. And that was as far as Y Day went. Nickerson scored two fouls, Clark added one, and Davis added another to raise the Tiger total to 20 and the game ended.

TEAM PLAYS WELL

Jaggy Davis has not played a better game this year than he did Friday. Holding the fast Withrow to one basket and four fouls he did plenty of defensive work and contributed eight points to the Tiger total. Nickerson played a sweet floor game and like Dean White was digging the ball throughout the game. Russell played the taller Weaver nicely and although the Y Day center was high point man for his team this boy is plenty tough and when he gets loose is tough to stop. Clark played "Cocky" Alsdorf to a standstill and although this Y Day captain had the ball quite often and couldn't get anywhere near a scoring location and had to be content with one foul.

A. B. Sears, of Wooster College, refereed the game.

WASHINGTON DROPS GAME

Tiger Reserves Led By Zeke Zimmer Hand Out 24-13 Preliminary Defeat

With Zeke Zeimer, Good and Stout leading the offensive the Circleville high school reserves team defeated the Washington-twp tossers Friday in a preliminary to th Tiger-Y Day game by the score of 24-13.

The reserves started with a lead of 6-3 in the first quarter and increased this to 19-5 at the end of the half.

The third period ended with the reserves still with their 19 total while Washington scored four points. The reserves scored five times in the final session while Washington was getting four points.

Zeimer scored five goals and a foul, Good three and Stout two goals to lead the scorers. M. Leist did most of the Washington-twp scoring.

Reason for Goodness

Beckie, usually a lively tot to whom keeping quiet was a stranger, had been wonderfully repressed at the day's session of Sunday school, and when it was over her appreciative teacher expressed approval by saying: "Beckie, dear, you have been a very good little girl today." "Yes'm," was the solemnly assenting reply. "I couldn't help being good. I got a stiff neck."—Brockton Enterprise.

Sore Throats and Coughs

Quickly Relieved By This Safe Prescription.

Here's a doctor's prescription that is really throat insurance. Sore or irritated throats are relieved and soothed almost instantly with the very first swallow. About 90% of all coughs are caused by an irritated throat; consequently for most coughs too there is nothing better than this famous prescription—it goes direct to the internal cause. It is put up under the name Thoxine and is guaranteed to stop coughs and relieve sore throats in 15 minutes or your money will be refunded. Singers and speakers find Thoxine very valuable.

The remarkable thing about Thoxine is that while it relieves almost instantly, it contains nothing harmful, is pleasant tasting and safe for the whole family. Ask for Thoxine 35c, 60c, and $1.00 bottles. Sold by Hamilton & Ryan and all other good drug stores.—Adv.

DERBY, MUHLENBERG BOYS FEATURE COUNTY GAMES

Muhlenberg-twp boys were handed a surprise package at Derby Friday evening in a county league struggle when Derby's boys won a fast 20-16 victory. Muhlenberg started its second team and before the smoke of the first quarter had cleared away the varsity five was in their but the damage had been done. Derby had a lead which was never relinquished and try as hard as they could Muhlenberg could not overcome the handicap.

Mathews, Derby forward, was the star of the contest. This boy swished the leather through the net for 15 of his teams 20 points. Seven field goals and one foul made up his total. Graham did plenty of neat guarding for the Derby boys and deserved much favorable comment.

The Derby and the Muhlenberg-twp girls played to an 18-18 tie.

GIRLS UPSET

Ashvile's veteran tossers dedefeated Scioto at Ashville by a score of 27-14. Bowers and McGlone were in the limelight all through the game by their clever playing. Ashville girls lost their first contest of the season at the hands of the Scioto girls by the score of 19-13. Beulah Carfrey starred for Scioto.

New Holland's teams won both their games, the boys defeating Monroe, 27-13 and the girls winning their contest, 24-11.

Williamsport was victorious in both its encounters, the boys minus Tommy Tomlinson, taking Jackson by a 30-17 score. The girls won a fast hard played game by a 10-5 count. The girls' game was fast from the start and was decided by close guarding.

Walnut boys and girls split even in double header, the girls defeating Perry girls and the boys losing to Perry lads. The score of the girls' game was 38-2 and the boys was 15-6.

AMANDA DEFEATED

Both Amanda girls and boys were defeated by Pleasantville Friday evening, the girls losing 51-10 and the boys, 15-11.

Mt. Sterling boys edged West Jefferson, 14-13 in a hotly contested contest and the Mt. Sterling girls defeated West Jefferson by a 36-18 score.

GRANDVIEW IS VICTORIOUS

Granville Defeated 22-21 In Fast Central Buckeye League Contest

Grandview high school basketball team of the newly organized Central Buckeye association defeated the highly touted Grandville team of the same league Friday night at Grandview by the close score of 22-21.

Both teams showed exceptional strength and with the sound of the opening whistle until the final blast was heard. The game was fast and well played.

Circleville travels to Grandville for a league game and on Friday meets Grandview here in another league contest.

GLIDERS. . . . . .

A new record is made by an American glider. W. H. Bowlus at San Diego has remained aloft for six hours and 19 minutes.

Thus we see that the noble art of gliding, or airplane-soaring, is coming on. The Germens are still far ehead of us in this art, with a record of around 20 hours, but they have had much practice. Until a couple of years ago there was no air gliding at all in America.

This is curious, because the art was invented here. Prof. Langley the pioneer experimenter in aeronautics, was making ghdrs and riding in them, for a few seconds or minutes at a time, more than 30 years ago. The planes built by the Wright brothers and flown by them in their early airplaning were gliders. It was years until they installed an engine. Then the motor diverted attention from the kite, and the game is only resumed in this country a generation later, after the Germans have popularied it.

BONUS FOR PREACHERS' SONS

"The best quality of leaders arises with the greatest frequency from the progeny of the clergy," says Dr. Clarence G. Campbell, president of the Eugenics Research society. He therefore proposes to encourag good leadership by offering a bonus or subsidy for the rearing of every child born to a clergyman.

In a period when the clergy is not so highly regraded as it has been, this is a notbale compliment to the profession. Even if, as one critic objects, sons inherit qualities from their mothers rather than their fathers, it will have to be granted that clergymen show rare judgment in selecting their children's mothers.

And what becomes of the tradition that "preachers' sons never amount to anything?"

A GOOD VACATION

In a story about Dr. Luckiesh, an authority on artificial lighting and director of the lighting research laboratory of the National Lamp Works, a reporter says:

"He takes his vacations in Canada, where he has a shack in the wilds. Candles furnish the illumination." To which an explanatory word by Dr. Luchiesh is added:

"I don't want to be reminded of my work when I'm resting. All I want to do is soak up sunlight and store up health for the winter as a bear does fat. Vacations were designed to make us think outside the rut.'

This sounds a bit different from the traditional postmen's or bus driver's holiday. But perhaps the doctor isn't so different as he seems. It may be his appreciation of the importance of sunlight that makes him strive to achieve its perfection in artificial illumination. But that's not so important as the lesson one may learn from this man's vacation theory He's found the ideal holiday for himself and enjoys it to the full Too many people waste vacations and lose their recreational value because they've never found the kind that suits them best.

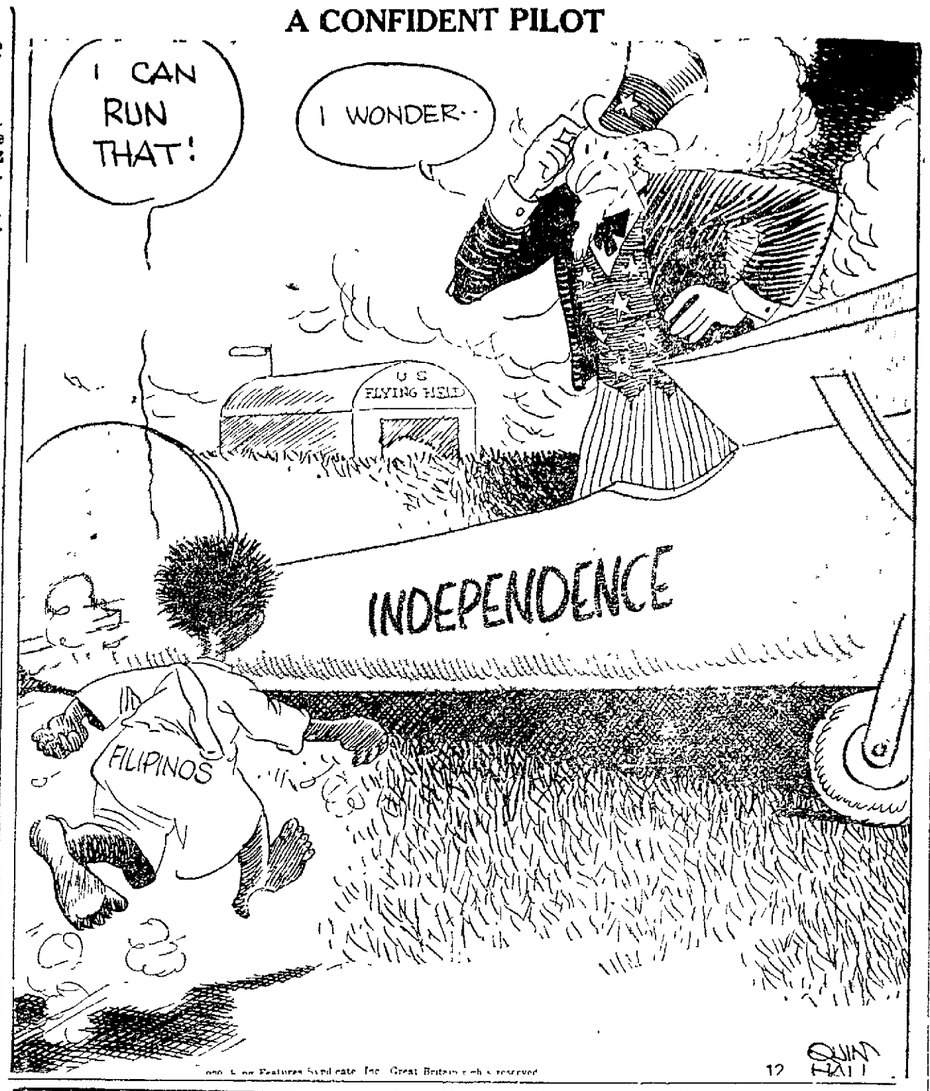
A CONFIDENT PILOT



"STORM-TOSSED"

BY HELEN SCHERMERHORN YOUNG

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE.

ENID MONROE is loved by Dick Grant and Ned Grier. Both young men work for the same oil company. Dick is sent to Shanghai. Ned wins Enid by telling her that Dick is carrying on an affair with an Oriental woman. When Dick returns, he learns that Enid and Ned are soon to be married. He acts as best man at the wedding, after which he leaves for the Coast. Next Summer his company sends him to a mountain resort, where Ned and Enid are vacationing with Enid's brother. Dick's love for Enid grows. Enid resents the affection of Genevieve Long, another member of the party, for Dick. That Fall, Enid counts the days until Dick arrives in New York. Protecting her from the crowds at a football game, their eyes meet, acknowledging their love for one another. While at the ranch the following Summer, Ned is called away on business.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.)

CHAPTER XXIII.

WHILE Dick was dressing for dinner he came out of the daze in which he had been all afternoon. The dazzling presence of Enid had stunned him and for those few short hours he had given himself up to the joy of being with her. But now he must pull up.

Brave and determined he walked in to dinner and all through the meal paid especial attention to Genevieve. He was happier than he had been for the last two days, because the constant thought of disloyalty and weakness marred the joy of loving Enid.

Now he was set. No more backsliding. Genevieve. There was his safety.

"Come on over to my cabin," suggested Pauline, as they left the ranch house after dinner.

"Just a couple of rubbers, if you don't mind," Enid all but yawned. "I'm so tired that I won't see the spots on the cards. Dave, you should learn to play."

Dave laughed, kissed his wife and sister and said if they could get along without him he was going to bed.

The game over, Genevieve quickly added up the score—like a man, Enid thought. She didn't count on her fingers. "Pauline, you owe me five dollars and Enid owes Dick five."

Pauline found her purse and paid Genevieve.

"I must go home now," sighed Enid, pulling her cloak around her. "Do you want to walk over with me, Pauline?" Why had Dave gone to bed?

"I'll walk over with you, Enid," volunteered Genevieve, taking her arm. Why did she always take things in hand so? That wasn't Enid's plan.

"I'll go along with you," said Dick, following the girls out of the door.

At Genevieve's cabin Enid [illegible] and "good-night" and turned to Dick, thanking [illegible] stop for a moment on Genevieve's veranda.

"Oh, I'm coming over to collect the [illegible] Pairs from you, Enid," Genevieve laughed. Oh—why, [illegible]

"I don't trust you [illegible] night," Enid replied with [illegible] harness.

"[illegible] Genevieve. We'll [illegible] morrow night, too?"

"Sure [illegible] rather [illegible] Can fireworks [illegible] night, Dick?"

Enid and Dick [illegible] Genevieve [illegible] ing her [illegible] [illegible] ing the [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] the cushions.

He did not touch him [illegible] holding it [illegible] if he had [illegible] good drinks—he was [illegible] with the nearness of [illegible] head swam. The fire [illegible] hand. He rose [illegible] tables and sat down [illegible] to Enid.

They didn't speak. They [illegible] A great flame [illegible] fire was roaring [illegible] room was in a red glow. [illegible] the fire or was he [illegible] the blood all rushing to [illegible] ead? He was looking [illegible] Enid. His eyes must be all [illegible] said, as if he were in a fire. They burned

He looked at Enid. Her eyes were deep, that deep, deep blue as he had seen them after that Home, Sweet Home dance at the Academy when she was a little girl.

Enid lowered her eyes under his gaze. He could see her breast rise and fall with each breath. It was hard for her to breathe, too.

His shoulders was touching hers. Timidly he slipped her hand through his arm. She was trembling like a frightened child. He felt the grip of her fingers on his arm.

He took her little hand in his and held it tightly—not looking at her.

They drew closer — closer — so naturally. His arms were around her. His mouth was on hers. She yielded. He could feel her body relax against his, her lips quiver against his. He felt tears on his face. He kissed her eyes—first one and then the other.

Enid's arms around his neck—[illegible] dear, soft arms—holding him close. Again his mouth was on Enid's, Enid kissing him.

[illegible] soft body trembling [illegible] his weight . . . her [illegible] on his neck . . . his hand in her silky hair.

"Enid—my own—my [illegible] Enid—"

Enid's voice, almost a wh[illegible] her hands on Dick's face.

"Dick—my beloved— N[illegible] please don't—Oh, Dick—[illegible] —please. You'll be sorry [illegible] morning. Take care of me, [illegible] tomorrow—sorry—Ned—

Ned—Ned. "Take [illegible] Enid." From far away [illegible] name seemed to come [illegible] of Enid. Dick" N[illegible] and that when he left. [illegible] What was he doing? [illegible] dragging her down with h[illegible] destruction, building [illegible] ture on misery and guilt, [illegible] ties of peace and [illegible] building a home into N[illegible] had stepped deeper into [illegible] the hurt. Why, he must [illegible] kill her now—that would be as sinful! Murder—murder—[illegible] that's what he was committing—a double murder and hurling his own soul into hell!

(To be continued tomorrow.)

RIGHT FOOD FOR SICK WILL SPEED RECOVERY

Take Special Care in Preparing Food for the Person Who Is Ill and Serve It Attractively, Urges Authority, Listing the Varied Diets.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

MANY persons write to ask about the diet for the sick. Perhaps a few suggestions along this line will not be amiss.

Food for the sick must be well cooked and with little seasoning.

DR. COPELAND.

The doctor will order a particular form of diet. But he may be so busy he forgets to give you details. Perhaps this grouping of diets will help:

The liquid diet: This consists of a variety of broths of chicken, lamb, beef, oysters and clams. Gruels, milk, buttermilk and malted milk are included. Likewise, egg-nogs with various flavors, cream soups, koumiss, orange and grape juice are in this group, as are vegetable broths, cocoa, and, in some cases, tea and coffee.

The soft diet: In connection with the liquid diet, one could serve soft cooked eggs, milk toast, custards and junket, and tapioca pudding. Also we may include mashed banana or apple beaten with the white of egg, floating island, rice pudding, ices, cooked cereals, tomato juice or soup, almost any vegetable puree, jellied broths, fruit juices, prune whip and stewed fruits.

The semi-soft diet: This includes both the soft and liquid diets as given, together with solid foods which can be easily digested. It embraces tender chicken, oysters, scraped broiled beef, at the doctor's discretion, squab. Any of the cereals may be used, and also creamed and mashed carrots, spinach, asparagus, celery, peas, beets, and baked potatoes. It might possibly include crisp bacon, ice cream, baked apples and souffle

The light diet: This might include all foods we have mentioned, with other vegetables added, with the exception of cabbage, dried peas or dried beans. It would include fish, lamb, sweetbreads, steak, tongue, with light desserts.

The special diet: This should be taken charge of by your physician Where such food is required he will write out the details.

For the sick person, none but the best of foods should be served, and cleanliness in preparing them should be strictly observed. Serve small portions on the prettiest china in the house. It will often work wonders in the invalid's appetite, if he can eat at all. Savory dishes and tinkling china ought to gain your invalid's interest.

All the dishes may be made most delicate and attractive It is important to do away with the monotony so often experienced in the meals of the invalid. Desserts both colorful and nourishing can be frozen in the electric refrigerator, or in your own freezer, and are refreshing for the invalid if the doctor approves.

These are a few suggestions in a field where the opportunity for discussion is almost unlimited. It takes time and effort to supply the special dishes a sick person can eat. But such feeding hastens recovery.

DID YOU EVER STOP THRE THAT when you buy well advertised merchandise. you are buying the best obtainable

Advertised merchandise is always as represented—a standard grade of quality, which is the best at the price.

Advertisements are profitable to everyone. They pay you by giving you money-saving information, and pay business concerns by making it possible for them to have a profitable business.

New and worth while merchandise is constantly being put on the market It is the policy of modern business concerns to tell you about it through the printed page.

There is no secret about the business of the persistent advertisers. They simply have the right goods at the right price and tell you about it in their advertisements

Good Advertising is the Shortest Distance Between the Buyer and Seller.

When You Buy From Business Concerns Who Advertise, You Get Your Money's Worth.

Competition is the life of armament, too.

Theatres

AT THE CLIFTONA

"Spectacle," always expected in a Cecil B. DeMille production, has its place in "Dynamite," the producer-director's talking picture for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer at the Cliftona theater Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The big thrill of "Dynamite" is an explosion in a coal mine, trapping three of the principals, Kay Johnson, Chrales Bickford and Conrad Nagel.

This explosion is done with full sound and dialogue effects. It is the first of the many De Mille spectacles to have this advantage.

In addition to the crash of rending coal, De Mille has a number of sequences of modern society which are colorful, striking, and in line with the type of material represented by such previous photoplays as "Manslaughter," "Male and Female," and "Why Change Your Wife?"

Polo games, swimming races, and a striking race between ten girls, rolling head-over-heels in huge aero wheels, will feature a field day at a country club. A "wild party" at the home of Cynthia, the heroine, permits Adrian, M-G-M's gown designer, full sway for his genius in the concocting of unusual costumes.

De Mille's leads in this story by Jeanie MacPherson are Kay Johnson, Charles Bickford, Conrad Nagel and Julia Faye. Other players include Muriel McCormac, Robert Edeson, Leslie Fenton, Barton Hepburn, Casson Ferguson, Clarence Burton, Joel McCrea.

SATURDAY

When the debutantes of Park-ave society rub elbows with the denizens of Broadway's stage, sparks are sure to fly and hearts are sure to break in one or both of the rival camps.

That is the working formula of Mr. Arthur Train's notable novel, "Illusion" and it is also the recipe for Paramount's all-talking picturization of the Train opus which co-features Charles (Buddy) Rogers and Nancy Carroll and which is at the Cliftona theatre Saturday.

Years Ago

10 YEARS AGO

L. C. Gehring of Scioto-st was greatly surprised Wednesday evening when seven of his former employes of the Sears-Nichols Co., of Ashville came in and spent the evening. Many happy incidents of the two years stay in Ashville were recalled.

Charles B. Noggle, prosperous farmer of Jackson-twp and Josephine Darling of Scioto-twp were married Wednesday afternoon at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage here. Rev. G. E. Tifft performed the ceremony.

Robert E. Fritz, formerly of Circleville, and Miss Mary Delcine Pontious were married Wednesday evening at Trinity Lutheran church. Rev. G. J. Troutman performed the ceremony.

15 YEARS AGO

Miss Nellie Weaver attended a dinner in Columbus Friday evening given by the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. A theatre party at the Southern followed the dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hunt, of Charlestown, W. Va., were guests of Mrs. Wayne Caldwell and Mrs. James I. Smith. Mrs. Hunt's maiden name was Mary Woodrow, and she is an aunt of Woodrow Wilson.

Mrs. Emma Given returned home Saturday after a visit to her sister. Mrs. William Stimmel, in Kingston, and her daughter, Mrs. A. E. Herrnstein, in Chillicothe.

A. J. Thomas, president, and H. T. Taylor, cashier, of the Mt. Sterling National bank, were visitors in the city Monday.

25 YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Barthelmas of Pickaway-twp, entertained 70 guests to a reception dinner Thursday in honor of their 35th wedding anniversary. The house was beautifully decorated and the event was one of the most pleasant in the memory of those who have been entrtained at the hospitable home.

Miss Stella Secrist attended the wedding in Chillicothe Thursday of Miss Bernice Secrest and Arthur Pyke of Cleveland. Miss Secrest was until recently an instructor of mathematics in Chillicothe high school.

Rev. and Mrs. Wenrich and daughter of Stoutsville, were called to Reinhold, Pa., last week by the critical illness of Mrs. Wenrich's mother who was stricken by parrysis. She died before they could reach her bedside.

When the farmer starts solving one of his economic problems by "eating his own butter," as the government urges him to do, maybe carpenters and bricklayers out of work will start building houses for themselves.

Foolish Thought

Never let a man think that he can pursue a good end by evil means, without sinning against his own soul!—Souther.

Returns to Ohio

Dr. Wm. Hiram Foulkes

Dr. Foulkes, formerly of Cleveland, now of Newark, N. J., who was chairman of the Ohio Pastors' Convention a few years ago, is coming back to the 1930 convention in Columbus, Jan. 20-24, as a speaker.

He will lead a devotional service opening each day's session of the Pastors' Convention, and also a series of similar services for the Ohio Laymen's Convention, Jan. 21-24.

Both conventions, together with statewide conventions of church women and young people, are parts of the Centennial Pentecostal Celebration of the Ohio Council of Churches.

The Celebration will close Sunday evening, Jan. 26, with a great united service of worship in Memorial Hall, at which Dr. Foulkes will be the speaker.

TOM DRUM PLAYS BRIDEGROOM ROLE

It would be rather embarassing for a young man on the day he is to be married to be caught by his intended bride with another young lady on his lap and talking very endearingly to him. Tom Drum will experience the sensation and learn the consequences in the mysterious hypnotic musical comedy "Yoo-Hoo."

It seems that a person hypnotised has no sense of reason and surely the Chinese girl in "Yoo-Hoo" does not seem to care if her victim is single, married or about to be married, and after Lynch has gotten out of jail by hypnotising the entire police force and awakens her she does not know all the trouble she has caused.

Before Mr. Drum is caught in this embarassing situation there have been some-very beautiful love scenes between he and his lady fair in the person of Mary May Haswell, the charming leading lady. Their love song which is sure to thrill all who hear it will be "Rose Marie I Love You" from Rose Marie. A little earlier before Lynch has caused all the trouble by his hypnotic passes, Drum, in the midst of a gay bachelor party, will say goodbye to single life with the rollicking song from Zeigfelds Follies "Good Bye Dear Old Bachelor Days." In this he will be joined by the "Sunshine Boys" and the "Drum Corps Darlings.'

CORRECTION

The Clifton Auto Sales Co., was made the defendant in a damage suit for $735 by Mrs. Margaret Wile of Columbus and not Miss Margaret Wile as was stated in Friday's paper.

The suit was filed in Franklinco courts.

Temperance Leaders

Mrs. Annie Wittenmyer was the first president of the national Woman's Christian Temperance union. Miss Frances E Willard succeeded her in 1879. She held the position until her death, in 1898.

GLIDERS. . . . . .

A new record is made by an American glider. W. H. Bowlus at San Diego has remained aloft for six hours and 19 minutes.

Thus we see that the noble art of gliding, or airplane-soaring, is coming on. The Germens are still far ehead of us in this art, with a record of around 20 hours, but they have had much practice. Until a couple of years ago there was no air gliding at all in America.

This is curious, because the art was invented here. Prof. Langley the pioneer experimenter in aeronautics, was making glidrs and riding in them, for a few seconds or minutes at a time, more than 30 years ago. The planes built by the Wright brothers and flown by them in their early airplaning were gliders. It was years until they installed an engine. Then the motor diverted attention from the kite, and the game is only resumed in this country a generation later, after the Germans have popularied it.

BONUS FOR PREACHERS' SONS

"The best quality of leaders arises with the greatest frequency from the progeny of the clergy," says Dr. Clarence G. Campbell, president of the Eugenics Research society. He therefore proposes to encourag good leadership by offering a bonus or subsidy for the rearing of every child born to a clergyman.

In a period when the clergy is not so highly regraded as it has been, this is a notbale compliment to the profession. Even if, as one critic objects, sons inherit qualities from their mothers rather than their fathers, it will have to be granted that clergymen show rare judgment in selecting their children's mothers.

And what becomes of the tradition that "preachers' sons never amount to anything?"

A GOOD VACATION

In a story about Dr. Luckiesh, an authority on artificial lighting and director of the lighting research laboratory of the National Lamp Works, a reporter says:

"He takes his vacations in Canada, where he has a shack in the wilds. Candles furnish the illumination." To which an explanatory word by Dr. Luchiesh is added:

"I don't want to be reminded of my work when I'm resting. All I want to do is soak up sunlight and store up health for the winter as a bear does fat. Vacations were designed to make us think outside the rut.'

This sounds a bit different from the traditional postmen's or bus driver's holiday. But perhaps the doctor isn't so different as he seems. It may be his appreciation of the importance of sunlight that makes him strive to achieve its perfection in artificial illumination. But that's not so important as the lesson one may learn from this man's vacation theory. He's found the ideal holiday for himself and enjoys it to the full. Too many people waste vacations and lose their recreational value because they've never found the kind that suits them best.

A CONFIDENT PILOT

"STORM-TOSSED"

BY HELEN SCHERMERHORN YOUNG

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE.

ENID MONROE is loved by Dick Grant and Ned Grier. Both young men work for the same oil company. Dick is sent to Shanghai. Ned wins Enid by telling her that Dick is carrying on an affair with an Oriental woman. When Dick returns, he learns that Enid and Ned are soon to be married. He acts as best man at the wedding, after which he leaves for the Coast. Next Summer his company sends him to a mountain resort, where Ned and Enid are vacationing with Enid's brother. Dick's love for Enid grows. Enid resents the affection of Genevieve Long, another member of the party, for Dick. That Fall, Enid counts the days until Dick arrives in New York. Protecting her from the crowds at a football game, their eyes meet, acknowledging their love for one another. While at the ranch the following Summer, Ned is called away on business.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.)

CHAPTER XXIII.

WHILE Dick was dressing for dinner he came out of the daze in which he had been all afternoon. The dazzling presence of Enid had stunned him and for those few short hours he had given himself up to the joy of being with her. But now he must pull up.

Brave and determined he walked in to dinner and all through the meal paid especial attention to Genevieve. He was happier than he had been for the last two days, because the constant thought of disloyalty and weakness marred the joy of loving Enid.

Now he was set. No more backsliding. Genevieve. There was his safety.

"Come on over to my cabin," suggested Pauline, as they left the ranch house after dinner.

"Just a couple of rubbers, if you don't mind," Enid all but yawned. "I'm so tired that I won't see the spots on the cards. Dave, you should learn to play."

Dave laughed, kissed his wife and sister and said if they could get along without him he was going to bed.

The game over, Genevieve quickly added up the score—like a man, Enid thought. She didn't count on her fingers. "Pauline, you owe me five dollars and Enid owes Dick five."

Pauine found her purse and paid Genevieve .

"I must go home now," sighed Enid, pulling her cloak around her. "Do you want to walk over with me, Pauline?" Why had Dave gone to bed?

"I'll walk over with you, Enid," volunteered Genevieve, taking her arm. Why did she always take things in hand so? That wasn't Enid's plans.

"I'll go along with you," said Dick, following the girls out of the door.

At Genevieve's cabin Enid shook hands with her, said "good-night" and turned to Dick, thinking he would stop for a moment on Genevieve's veranda.

"Oh, I'm coming over to collect that five dollars from you, Enid," Dick laughed. Oh—why—why had he said it?

"You won't trust me till morning?" Enid replied with embarrassment.

"I should say not! Good-night, Genevieve. We'll lick them tomorrow night, too."

"Sure—we ought to work together on the transatlantic liners. Our teamwork's good. Good-night, Dick."

Enid and Dick walking in the dark to her cabin, his hand holding her arm, her elbow in the crook of his arm, her shoulder brushing his. They entered the cabin and Dick closed the door. Enid switched on the lamp, which gave a soft light. Dick put a log on the fire and stirred it up. A flame leaped.

Enid sat down on the big divan and rested against the pillows. Dick lit a cigarette and sat down by her.

"Would you like some Scotch, Dick?" asked Enid. "There's some on the chiffonier in Ned's flask in our room."

"Enid's room . . . her dressing-gown lying across the chair, but not the Chinese one he had given her . . . her little bedroom slippers by it, with pink feathers on them . . . her brushes and bottles on the bureau. End . . . Enid's things! How sweet to see her intimate things, things she handled with her dear hands and used every day, garments which were privileged to touch her dear body—

His Mouth Was on Hers. She Yielded.

"There's a bottle of white rock on the table." If it had been Genevieve she supposed she would have been running around getting the Scotch and white rock herself and opening the bottle without scratching her finger.

"Have a nip, Enid?" asked Dick, pouring out a drink.

"No, thank you," replied Enid, "but I will have a cigarette."

Dick lit a cigarette and handed it to Enid. He took his glass, sat down by her and leaned back against the cushions.

He did not touch his drink, but sat there holding it in his hand. He felt as if he had already had a dozen drinks—he was drunk—drunk with the nearness of Enid. His head swam. The glass shook in his hand. He rose and put it on the table and sat down again—closer to Enid.

They didn't speak. The fire crackled. A great flame sprang up. The fire was roaring now. The room was in a red glow. Was it from the fire or was he seeing red—the blood all rushing to his head? He was looking through red. His eyes must be all bloodshot, as if he were in a fire. They burned.

He looked at Enid. Her eyes were deep, that deep, deep blue as he had seen them after that Home, Sweet Home dance at the Academy when she was a little girl.

Enid lowered her eyes under his gaze. He could see her breast rise and fall with each breath. It was hard for her to breathe, too.

His shoulders was touching hers. Timidly he slipped her hand through his arm. She was trembling like a frightened child. He felt the grip of her fingers on his arm.

He took her little hand in his and held it tightly—not looking at her.

They drew closer — closer — so naturally. His arms were around her. His mouth was on hers. She yielded. He could feel her body relax against his, her lips quiver against his. He felt tears on his face. He kissed her eyes—first one and then the other.

Enid's arms around his neck—those dear, soft arms—holding him close. Again his mouth was on Enid's, Enid kissing him. God—Enid's soft body trembling under his weight . . . her breath on his neck . . . his hand in her silky hair.

"Enid — my own — my love. Enid—"

Enid's voice, almost a whisper; her hands on Dick's face. "Dick—Dick—my beloved— No, no, please don't—Oh, Dick—darling—please. You'll be sorry in the morning. Take care of me, dearest, take care of me. Think of tomorrow morning—Ned—"

Ned—Ned. "Take care of Enid." From far away Ned's voice seemed to come. "Take care of Enid, Dick." Ned had said that when he left. And what was he doing? He was dragging her down with him into destruction, building up their future on misery and guilt, robbing their lives of peace and happiness, thrusting a knife into Ned's back and a poisoned dagger into Enid's pure heart. Why, he might as well kill her now—that wouldn't be as sinful! Murder—murder—that's what he was committing—a double murder and hurling his own soul into hell.

RIGHT FOOD FOR SICK WILL SPEED RECOVERY

Take Special Care in Preparing Food for the Person Who Is Ill and Serve It Attractively, Urges Authority, Listing the Varied Diets.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

MANY persons write to ask about the diet for the sick. Perhaps a few suggestions along this line will not be amiss.

Food for the sick must be well cooked and with little seasoning.

DR. COPELAND.

The doctor will order a particular form of diet. But he may be so busy he forgets to give you details. Perhaps this grouping of diets will help:

The liquid diet: This consists of a variety of broths of chicken, lamb, beef, oysters and clams. Gruels, milk, buttermilk and malted milk are included. Likewise, egg-nogs with various flavors, cream soups, koumiss, orange and grape juice are in this group, as are vegetable broths, cocoa, and, in some cases, tea and coffee.

The soft diet: In connection with the liquid diet, one could serve soft cooked eggs, milk toast, custards and junket, and tapioca pudding. Also we may include mashed banana or apple beaten with the white of egg, floating island, rice pudding, ices, cooked cereals, tomato juice or soup, almost any vegetable puree, jellied broths, fruit juices, prune whip and stewed fruits.

The semi-soft diet: This includes both the soft and liquid diets as given, together with solid foods which can be easily digested. It embraces tender chicken, oysters, scraped broiled beef, at the doctor's discretion, squab. Any of the cereals may be used, and also creamed and mashed carrots, spinach, asparagus, celery, peas, beets, and baked potatoes. It might possibly include crisp bacon, ice cream, baked apples and souffle.

The light diet: This might include all foods we have mentioned, with other vegetables added, with the exception of cabbage, dried peas or dried beans. It would include fish, lamb, sweetbreads, steak, tongue, with light desserts.

The special diet: This should be taken charge of by your physician. Where such food is required he will write out the details.

For the sick person, none but the best of foods should be served, and cleanliness in preparing them should be strictly observed. Serve small portions on the prettiest china in the house. It will often work wonders in the invalid's appetite, if he can eat at all. Savory dishes and tinkling china ought to gain your invalid's interest.

All the dishes may be made most delicate and attractive. It is important to do away with the monotony so often experienced in the meals of the invalid. Desserts both colorful and nourishing can be frozen in the electric refrigerator, or in your own freezer, and are refreshing for the invalid if the doctor approves.

These are a few suggestions in a field where the opportunity for discussion is almost unlimited. It takes time and effort to supply the special dishes a sick person can eat. But such feeding hastens recovery.

Answers to Health Queries

P. A. M. Q.—Why do I have blood blisters on the roof of my mouth? I wear a partial plate and keep it clean.

A.—It is possible that the plate is not fitted correctly. Consult your dentist.

* * *

WILSON M. Q.—How can I reduce?

2.—What should a boy weigh who is fourteen years old and five feet five inches tall?

A.—Weight reduction is merely a matter of self-control as regards the diet. Exercise is essential.

2.—For his age and height he should weigh about 120 pounds.

* * *

MRS. L. C. Q.—What do you advise for poor circulation?

A.—Build up the general health and this will benefit the circulation.

* * *

L. K. E. Q.—What will cure pimples and blackheads?

A.—The diet should be corrected, avoiding excessive sugars, starches and coffee.

* * *

A. M. C. Q.—What do you advise for stes?

A.—Have your eyes examined to see if glasses are needed.

* * *

G. E. E. Q.—My hands and feet are always cold. What causes this?

A.—This is probably due to poor circulation. Build up the general health and your circulation will improve.

* * *

E. B. Q.—How can I increase my height? I am nineteen years old and five feet two inches tall.

A.—There is really no way to increase the height after you have stopped growing. However, you have no immediate cause for worry as you will probably continue to grow until the age of twenty-one.

DID YOU EVER STOP THRE THAT when you buy well advertised merchandise, you are buying the best obtainable.

Advertised merchandise is always as represented—a standard grade of quality, which is the best at the price.

Advertisements are profitable to everyone. They pay you by giving you money-saving information, and pay business concerns by making it possible for them to have a profitable business.

New and worth while merchandise is constantly being put on the market. It is the policy of modern business concerns to tell you about it through the printed page.

There is no secret about the business of the persistent advertisers. They simply have the right goods at the right price and tell you about it in their advertisements.

Good Advertising is the Shortest Distance Between the Buyer and Seller.

When You Buy From Business Concerns Who Advertise, You Get Your Money's Worth.

Competition is the life of armament, too.

Theatres

AT THE CLIFTONA

"Spectacle," always expected in a Cecil B. DeMille production, has its place in "Dynamite," the producer-director's talking picture for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer at the Cliftona theater Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The big thrill of "Dynamite" is an explosion in a coal mine, trapping three of the principals, Kay Johnson, Chrales Bickford and Conrad Nagel.

This explosion is done with full sound and dialogue effects. It is the first of the many De Mille spectacles to have this advantage.

In addition to the crash of rending coal, De Mille has a number of sequences of modern society which are colorful, striking, and in line with the type of material represented by such previous photoplays as "Manslaughter," "Male and Female," and "Why Change Your Wife?"

Polo games, swimming races, and a striking race between ten girls, rolling head-over-heels in huge aero wheels, will feature a field day at a country club. A "wild party" at the home of Cynthia, the heroine, permits Adrian, M-G-M's gown designer, full sway for his genius in the concocting of unusual costumes.

De Mille's leads in this story by Jeanie MacPherson are Kay Johnson, Charles Bickford, Conrad Nagel and Julia Faye. Other players include Muriel McCormac, Robert Edeson, Leslie Fenton, Barton Hepburn, Casson Ferguson, Clarence Burton, Joel McCrea.

SATURDAY

When the debutantes of Park-ave society rub elbows with the denizens of Broadway's stage, sparks are sure to fly and hearts are sure to break in one or both of the rival camps.

That is the working formula of Mr. Arthur Train's notable novel, "Illusion" and it is also the recipe for Paramount's all-talking picturization of the Train opus which co-features Charles (Buddy) Rogers and Nancy Carroll and which is at the Cliftona theatre Saturday.

Years Ago

10 YEARS AGO

L. C. Gehring of Scioto-st was greatly surprised Wednesday evening when seven of his former employes of the Sears-Nichols Co., of Ashville came in and spent the evening. Many happy incidents of the two years stay in Ashville were recalled.

Charles B. Noggle, prosperous farmer of Jackson-twp and Josephine Darling of Scioto-twp were married Wednesday afternoon at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage here. Rev. G. E. Tifft performed the ceremony.

Robert E. Fritz, formerly of Circleville, and Miss Mary Delcine Pontious were married Wednesday evening at Trinity Lutheran church. Rev. G. J. Troutman performed the ceremony.

15 YEARS AGO

Miss Nellie Weaver attended a dinner in Columbus Friday evening given by the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. A theatre party at the Southern followed the dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hunt, of Charlestown, W. Va., were guests of Mrs. Wayne Caldwell and Mrs. James I. Smith. Mrs. Hunt's maiden name was Mary Woodrow, and she is an aunt of Woodrow Wilson.

Mrs. Emma Given returned home Saturday after a visit to her sister, Mrs. William Stimmel, in Kingston, and her daughter, Mrs. A. E. Herrnstein, in Chillicothe.

A. J. Thomas, president, and H. T. Taylor, cashier, of the Mt. Sterling National bank, were visitors in the city Monday.

25 YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Barthelmas of Pickaway-twp, entertained 70 guests to a reception dinner Thursday in honor of their 35th wedding anniversary. The house was beautifully decorated and the event was one of the most pleasant in the memory of those who have been entrtained at the hospitable home.

Miss Stella Secrist attended the wedding in Chillicothe Thursday of Miss Bernice Secrest and Arthur Pyke of Cleveland. Miss Secrest was until recently an instructor of mathematics in Chillicothe high school.

Rev. and Mrs. Wenrich and daughter of Stoutsville, were called to Reinhold, Pa., last week by the critical illness of Mrs. Wenrich's mother who was stricken by paralysis. She died before they could reach her bedside.

When the farmer starts solving one of his economic problems by "eating his own butter," as the government urges him to do, maybe carpenters and bricklayers out of work will start building houses for themselves.

Foolish Thought

Never let a man think that he can pursue a good end by evil means, without sinning against his own soul!—Southey.

Returns to Ohio

Dr. Wm. Hiram Foulkes

Dr. Foulkes, formerly of Cleveland, now of Newark, N. J., who was chairman of the Ohio Pastors' Convention a few years ago, is coming back to the 1930 convention in Columbus, Jan. 20-24, as a speaker.

He will lead a devotional service opening each day's session of the Pastors' Convention, and also a series of similar services for the Ohio Laymen's Convention, Jan. 21-24.

Both conventions, together with statewide conventions of church women and young people, are parts of the Centennial Pentecostal Celebration of the Ohio Council of Churches.

The Celebration will close Sunday evening, Jan. 26, with a great united service of worship in Memorial Hall, at which Dr. Foulkes will be the speaker.

TOM DRUM PLAYS BRIDEGROOM ROLE

It would be rather embarassing for a young man on the day he is to be married to be caught by his intended bride with another young lady on his lap and talking very endearingly to him. Tom Drum will experience the sensation and learn the consequences in the mysterious hypnotic musical comedy "Yoo-Hoo."

It seems that a person hypnotised has no sense of reason and surely the Chinese girl in "Yoo-Hoo" does not seem to care if her victim is single, married or about to be married, and after Lynch has gotten out of jail by hypnotising the entire police force and awakens her she does not know all the trouble she has caused.

Before Mr. Drum is caught in this embarassing situation there have been some-very beautiful love scenes between he and his lady fair in the person of Mary May Haswell, the charming leading lady. Their love song which is sure to thrill all who hear it will be "Rose Marie I Love You" from Rose Marie. A little earlier before Lynch has caused all the trouble by his hypnotic passes, Drum, in the midst of a gay bachelor party, will say goodbye to single life with the rollicking song from Zeigfelds Follies "Good Bye Dear Old Bachelor Days." In this he will be joined by the "Sunshine Boys" and the "Drum Corps Darlings.'

CORRECTION

The Clifton Auto Sales Co., was made the defendant in a damage suit for $735 by Mrs. Margaret Wile of Columbus and not Miss Margaret Wile as was stated in Friday's paper.

The suit was filed in Franklinco courts.

Temperance Leaders

Mrs. Annie Wittenmyer was the first president of the national Woman's Christian Temperance union. Miss Frances E. Willard succeeded her in 1879. She held the position until her death, in 1898.

PAINFUL CORNS

Loosen—Lift Out

A little known Japanese herb, the discovery of an eminent German scientist (Dr. Stickel) instantly soothes the corn, then loosens it so that shortly you can lift it right out. This new discovery called "Corn Fly" excites the white blood corpuscles to action and granulates the corn at its root. "Corn Fly" for corns, 35c, "Corn Fly Foot Bath Powder" 25c, and "Corn Fly Bunion Remedy" 50c, are sold under a positive money-back guarantee by Hi-Gene Co, Newark, N J, or local druggist.

Birds' "Flight Feathers"

It is believed that in the development of wings and powers of flight in birds those feathers nearest the body were the first to become serviceable, but now the most important flight feathers are those of the outer margin. Wing feathers vary in strength, shape and power of flight according to the mode of life of the different birds.

TO THE MANAGING STAFF

You have shown your reportorial abilities in your work. You have demonstrated in print your special news writing tendencies. You have given concrete evidences of initiative, loyalty, and dependableness when assuming control of issues during various times that illness kept your respective bosses at home.

School credits and scholarship honors can not publicly record recognition of those whose spirit lead them to volunteer to one another, "Come on, now, let's get together and do this editor's department just as though he were here. This paper must go out"—when all the editors were ill.

You have proced you can run the paper. As students qualified to do so, that should be your desire and privilege. Those interested in it believe in you. As a new staff you are in complete managing control. Will you justify our expectations this semester?

THANK YOU, COME AGAIN

Having been interested in athletics for 15 years and during that time ever failing to see 'rough stuff' and unsportsmanlike tactics win for any team voluntarily deserting its play as coached to indulge in them, I want to congratulate you boys who played hard yet cleanly, who obeyed your instructor when deliberately tempted to temporarily convert the hard court into a wrestling ring. I'm sure your coach and fans must be proud of you when they remember how you were too foxy to be fooled into such a game of free-for-all-basketball where weight and experience in such "handicraft" might be against you. You may well be congratulated upon your achievement in the new game. Play as you have been taught. Continue to remember all the world loves a winner only when he wins cleanly. When I'm here again, I'll want to see you play.

WELCOME, PEP CLUB!

C.H.S. is glad to welcome a Pep Club, and the students believe that with a fair trial and boosting this organization will be a success.

Although this is not just the type of club some might have had in mind, it does have several advantages. Certainly it will be a financial asset to the athletic organization. Also it can not help but put some pep and spirit into the student body.

Now that this club has started why not have some stunts? The grade schools would probably be glad to help put on "between half" stunts.

There will be six home games in the next six weeks. Here's a chance for the various high school organizations to show their talent and get before the public. Why not?

SHALL WE TRY?

We saw the Pep club begin its chosen work last night. What a vast improvement in support to the teams it gave!

The yells were strong. The stunts were evidently interesting to the spectators. The vendors were courteous and not too much in the picture. All was attuned to a coordinated demonstration of school spirit.

Lets make iit unanimous in membership. Then make it unteatable in team support. Shall we do this in time to welcome the Washington C. H. basketballers with a packed gym next Friday?

WHO IS IT?

This girl is one of the most valuable assets to the sophomore class because of her athletic ability. She is tall in statue and strong of build. She has light brown hair, cut wind-blown. A pair of glasses cover her light blue eyes. Her nick-name is drawn from her last name which is unusually long. If she were to be given a new nick-name we would seriously consider 'Buckets, or Baskets, or something like that. She has studied tap dancing and is blessed with a very pleasant voice. If people don't know this one, they had better steer shy of sophomores

No. 3 is .....

I am .....

This is the last chance to enter for the first thre descriptions The correct answers for these thre will appear next week Get into this contest now before it is too late.

Sophs Express Sympathy

As an expression of sympathy for their classmate, Robert Hundley, the sophomores sent flowers at the time of his late bereavement.

SECOND SEMESTER PLANS

Monday, Jan. 20, will begin the second semester of the school year. This signifies that one-half the school year has faded into the distance. During the next weeks, the students will be asked to put forth a stronger effort than heretofore.

With the coming of this semester a number of changes is necessitated at C.H.S. The organization during the second term will be disrupted as little as possible, as a great change during the middle of the school year necessitates very much disorganization in the school curriculum.

During the next semester advanced algebra taught by Margaret Mattinson will be carried over for a short time but will be changed to solid geometry. The text which will then be used is solid geometry by Durell and Arnold. Occupations, taught by J. M. Guthrie, will be changed to hygiene and sanitations. The text which will be used is "Elements of Hygiene and Sanitations" by Hough and Sedgwick. This is a new edition of the book and students are warned not to purchase the old edition.

Another change will be that of Business English which, during the past semester, has been taught by V. D. Keeler. This course will be taught by Louise Kuhlmann. This change is necessitated due to the fact that Mr. Keeler's book-keeping classes are over-crowded and more time is needed in teaching those courses. A third section of beginner's book-keeping will be formed from the fourth and seventh period classes, the latter which will be reduced greatly in size.

Report cards will be issued Wednesday, Jan. 22 and, together with a summary of the past six weeks, will contain a judgment of the first semester's work. Students are urged by Principal Gephart and the faculty to better their method of study and put forth a greater effort in attaining higher grades.

TYPISTS ACCOMPLISH MUCH

At the close of the first semester a very high standard has been set in typing, which, however, is being reached by a majority of the pupils. A speed of 20 yards per minute has been reached by beginners with completion of a large number of assignments and a speed of 30 words per minute with a correspondingly large number of assignments for advanced students. There are only a few who have not yet reached this standard the entire text having been finished by a few of the students, including Donald White, Phyllis Wagner, Josie Anna Collett, Dwight Wilson, Howard Greeno, and perhaps a few others whose work has not been completely checked over.

During the second semester the work might well include dictation work, which is very valuable, but due to the fact of the terribly over-crowded condition, work will necessarily be limited to a great extent to routine assignments and drill work.

GIRL RESERVES

President Roundhouse gave a report of the Girl Reserve meeting held at the Y.W.C.A. at Columbus on Jan. 11, 1930. The advisors and one delegate from nine cities attended this meeting. March 29, 1930 was set as the date for the Central Ohio Conference. All organizations will have some part in the conference, program or exhibits.

FRIDAY'S GAMES ON SPORT PAGE

FRESHMAN'S LECTURE

By Robert Rooney

If you get to school on time you are not tardy. It is essential that you remember this. So hereafter don't forget. Nothing is valuable that does not take time. Why should pupils forget this then? "Waste not time," someone said. Is it right to forget this? Do like you are told. Please remember this.

Having enjoyed this, you are now to start over. Omit the first word, cross out the next five. Continue this throughout. Then read.

CHAIRMAN APPOINTED

Lucille Kirkwood was appointed chairman of a committee to sell eskimo pies and candy at basketball games, when the juniors met Wednesday at 3:35 in the study hall. President Rooney announced that the co-operation of C.H.S. will be appreciated when the juniors sell their goodies at the games, the fund being for the Junior-Senior banquet.

Miss Wittich's Operetta Praised

All members of the cast of "Miss Cherryblossom" may find their picture in the January-Febcuary 1930 issue of the Supervisor's Service Bulletin. The picture is the one taken after the day was presented in C.H.S. in May, 1928, under the supervision of Helen K. Wittich to whom praise s given for her work as directress in this big success.

Man's Limitations

Man is the only one that knows nothing, that can learn nothing without being taught. He can neither speak nor walk, nor eat, and in short he can do nothing at the prompting of nature only, but weep. —Pliny the Elder (23-79 A. D.). "Natural History."

KINGSTON

Miss Letitia Brundige entertained on Friday night, Jan. 11, with a bridge dinner, which was served at one long table where the guests were seated. The table was beautifully appointed with silver china and crystal holders with orange colored candles with a center piece of calendulas. Dainty place cards of the same shade as the candles helped the guests to find their places. The guests who enjoyed Miss Brundige's wonderful hospitality were: Mrs. G. W. McGinnis, Mrs. Carson Dreisbach, Mrs. James Wright, Mrs. Paul McGinnis, Mrs. Walter Parker, Mrs. Egbert Freshour, Mrs. F. C. Leasure, Mrs. Robert Cryder, Mrs. Robert Brundige, Mrs. J. P. Gardner and Miss Mildred Holderman. Mrs. Egbert Freshour was awarded the high score prize.

Mrs. Clinton Roby very pleasantly surprised her husband on Tuesday with a surprise, the occasion being his birthday. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Gibson and two sons Clark and Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Betz, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Brundige, Mrs. John Terry, Miss Elizabeth Terry and Mrs. Harriet Roby. The diversons were bridge and euchre. At a late hour, Mrs. Roby, assisted by her daughters, Mary and Helen, served a delicious lunch composed of sandwiches, pickle, baked beans, custard cake and coffee.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Brundige were business visitors to Circleville on Wednesday.

Miss Letitia Brundige left on Tuesday for a visit with Mrs. A. M. Smart in London, Ontario, Canada.

OPEN ATTACK ON DRY LAW

Sen. Laguardia of New York Plans to Question Constitutionality

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18— The most formidable attack on prohibition since the supreme court upheld the Volstead act was scheduled to be launched in the House today.

Inspired by Rep. Laguardia (R) of New York, the anti-prohibitonists planned to question the constitutionality of the 18th amendment's ratification.

The New Yorker will invoke this issue in the hope of shutting off all appropriations for enforcement of the dry law. Although his move seemed predestined to failure, it carried up tremndous possibilities and may well be carried into the courts for final ruling.

When the House gets around to condiretion today of the $15,000,000 item in the theasury appropriation bill which is intended for enforcement costs, Lacuardia will make a point of order against it on the ground the 18th amendment actually went out of existence three years ago. He will cite the language of the amendment itself to prov his contention.

The point revolves around the question of what measure the necessary 36 states ratified when prohibition was incorporated in the constitution. Laguardia contends that all but ten of them actually acted upon the authorizing resolution sponsored by Senator Morris Sheppard (D) of Texas, and not the actual emendment. He will call attention to the third section of the amendment, which states "this article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the constitution by the legislatures of the several states, as provided in the constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the states by congress." This identic language originally was in the Sheppard resolution.

The indenping battle in the House overshadowed developments in the senate, but th upper house was far from idle in the renewed war over liquor. Wets and drys in the senate were busy sparring fora strategic legislative advantage with the issue centering on whether or not to force a record vote on repeal of the 18th amendment, as provided in a resolution offered by Senator Blaine (R) of Wisconsin.

Highly Humorous

Harry, age four, came home from Sunday school chuckling. "What did you do at Sunday school?" asked his interested mother "Teacher told us a funny story," giggled Harry. "A funny story," echoed his mother. "What was it about?" "It was about the adventures," was the reply. "of Shadrach Meshach, and a billy goat!"

Physical Peculiarity

Double-jointedness is caused by loose ligaments around the joints. People possessing such ligaments have a wider latitude of movement around the joints than most people and can twist themselves into positions which would not be possible for an ordinary person.

Stamp Adopted in 1844

Postmaster General John M Niles recommended the use of stamps in this country in 1840, almost immediately after their adoption in England, but his suggestion was disdainfully turned down. Not until four years later was their use authorized. Even then congress made no provision for printing them.—Gas Logic.

Device Popularizes Plane

Pianos will not disturb the neighbors if the device invented by a radio enthusiast of Paris is adopted, he believes Every key struck closes an electric current corresponding to the frequency of the note. This frequency is amplified and reaches a head telephone which the player wears

Conductor Scored

On a rainy day a lady in a sable coat got on a Madison avenue street car. "I don't suppose I've ridden on a street car in two years," she said to the conductor, a gloomy fellow, as she gave him her fare "I ride in my own car," she explained. The conductor rang up the fare. "You don't know how we missed you," he said.—The New Yorker.

Married Woman's Name

Actually there is no federal nor, so far as we can ascertain, state law which arbitrarily compels a woman to bear her husband's surname unless she wishes to do so. Recently the United States controller issued an order that married women in the government employ should sign their husband's surnames when signing the pay roll.—Washington Star.

Having been interested in athletics for 15 years and during that time ever failing to see 'rough stuff' and unsportsmanlike tactics win for any team voluntarily deserting its play as coached to indulge in them, I want to congratulate you boys who played hard yet cleanly, who obeyed your instructor when deliberately tempted to temporarily convert the hard court into a wrestling ring. I'm sure your coach and fans must be proud of you when they remember how you were too foxy to be fooled into such a game of free-for-all-basketball where weight and experience in such "handicraft" might be against you. You may well be congratulated upon your achievement in the 'new game. Play as you have been taught. Continue to remember all the world loves a winner only when he wins cleanly. When I'm here again, I'll want to see you play.

WELCOME, PEP CLUB!

C.H.S. is glad to welcome a Pep Club, and the students believe that with a fair trial and boosting this organization will be a success.

Although this is not just the type of club some might have had in mind, it does have several advantages. Certainly it will be a financial asset to the athletic organization. Also it can not help but put some pep and spirit into the student body.

Now that this club has started why not have some stunts? The grade schools would probably be glad to help put on "between half" stunts.

There will be six home games in the next six weeks. Here's a chance for the various high school organizations to show their talent and get before the public. Why not?

SHALL WE TRY?

We saw the Pep club begin its chosen work last night. What a vast improvement in support to the teams it gave!

The yells were strong. The stunts were evidently interesting to the spectators. The vendors were courteous and not too much in the picture. All was attuned to a coordinated demonstration of school spirit.

Lets make iit unanimous in membership. Then make it unteatable in team support. Shall we do this in time to welcome the Washington C. H. basketballers with a packed gym next Friday?

WHO IS IT?

This girl is one of the most valuable assets to the sophomore class because of her athletic ability. She is tall in statue and strong of build. She has light brown hair, cut wind-blown. A pair of glasses cover her light blue eyes. Her nick-name is drawn from her last name which is unusually long. If she were to be given a new nick-name, we would seriously consider "Buckets, or Baskets, or something like that. She has studied tap dancing and is blessed with a very pleasant voice. If people don't know this one, they had better steer shy of sophomores.

No. 3 is .....

I am .....

This is the last chance to enter for the first thre descriptions. The correct answers for these thre will appear next week. Get into this contest now before it is too late.

Sophs Express Sympathy

As an expression of sympathy for their classmate, Robert Hundley, the sophomores sent flowers at the time of his late bereavement.

SECOND SEMESTER PLANS

Monday, Jan. 20, will begin the second semester of the school year. This signifies that one-half the school year has faded into the distance. During the next weeks, the students will be asked to put forth a stronger effort than heretofore.

With the coming of this semester a number of changes is necessitated at C.H.S. The organization during the second term will be disrupted as little as possible, as a great change during the middle of the school year necessitates very much disorganization in the school curriculum.

During the next semester advanced algebra taught by Margaret Mattinson will be carried over for a short time but will be changed to solid geometry. The text which will then be used is solid geometry by Durell and Arnold. Occupations, taught by J. M. Guthrie, will be changed to hygiene and sanitations. The text which will be used is "Elements of Hygiene and Sanitations" by Hough and Sedgwick. This is a new edition of the book and students are warned not to purchase the old edition.

Another change will be that of Business English which, during the past semester, has been taught by V. D. Keeler. This course will be taught by Louise Kuhlmann. This change is necessitated due to the fact that Mr. Keeler's book-keeping classes are over-crowded and more time is needed in teaching those courses. A third section of beginner's book-keeping will be formed from the fourth and seventh period classes, the latter which will be reduced greatly in size.

Report cards will be issued Wednesday, Jan. 22 and, together with a summary of the past six weeks, will contain a judgment of the first semester's work. Students are urged by Principal Gephart and the faculty to better their method of study and put forth a greater effort in attaining higher grades.

TYPISTS ACCOMPLISH MUCH

At the close of the first semester a very high standard has been set in typing, which, however, is being reached by a majority of the pupils. A speed of 20 yards per minute has been reached by beginners with completion of a large number of assignments and a speed of 30 words per minute with a correspondingly large number of assignments for advanced students. There are only a few who have not yet reached this standard the entire text having been finished by a few of the students, including Donald White, Phyllis Wagner, Josie Anna Collett, Dwight Wilson, Howard Greeno, and perhaps a few others whose work has not been completely checked over.

During the second semester the work might well include dictation work, which is very valuable, but due to the fact of the terribly over-crowded condition, work will necessarily be limited to a great extent to routine assignments and drill work.

GIRL RESERVES

President Roundhouse gave a report of the Girl Reserve meeting held at the Y.W.C.A. at Columbus on Jan. 11, 1930. The advisors and one delegate from nine cities attended this meeting. March 29, 1930 was set as the date for the Central Ohio Conference. All organizations will have some part in the conference, program or exhibits.

FRIDAY'S GAMES ON SPORT PAGE

FRESHMAN'S LECTURE
By Robert Rooney

If you get to school on time you are not tardy. It is essential that you remember this. So hereafter don't forget. Nothing is valuable that does not take time. Why should pupils forget this then? "Waste not time," someone said. Is it right to forget this? Do like you are told. Please remember this.

Having enjoyed this, you are now to start over. Omit the first word, cross out the next five. Continue this throughout. Then read.

CHAIRMAN APPOINTED

Lucille Kirkwood was appointed chairman of a committee to sell eskimo pies and candy at basketball games, when the juniors met Wednesday at 3:35 in the study hall. President Rooney announced that the co-operation of C.H.S. will be appreciated when the juniors sell their goodies at the games, the fund being for the Junior-Senior banquet.

Miss Wittich's Operetta Praised

All members of the cast of "Miss Cherryblossom" may find their picture in the January-February 1930 issue of the Supervisor's Service Bulletin. The picture is the one taken after the day was presented in C.H.S. in May, 1928, under the supervision of Helen K. Wittich to whom praise is given for her work as directress in this big success.

BOOSTERS CLUB ELECTS

At a meeting of the Boosters club in the auditorium Wednesday, John Heiskel, Wilbur Adkins, and Dorothy Clarke were elected president, vice-president and secretary respectively.

Another meeting will be held in the near future to complete plans for stunts at athletic contests.

ROONEY NEW HI-Y PREXY

Hi-Y meeting held Tuesday noon in the physics department was called to order by the new president, Robert Rooney, due to the resignation of the former president, Hugh Cartright. Committees for the Washington C. H.-Circleville Hi-Y banquet will be appointed and an election of a new vice-president will be held at next week's meeting.

PARTY SEES HAMLET

A party of senior English girls today will witness the Shakespearean tragedy "Hamlet" at Memorial Hall, Columbus. The group includes Margie Hunsicker, Harriet Mason, Jincy Mader, Mary M. Moore, Peggy Courtright, Mary Mae Haswell, Florence and Helen Cellar, Helen Yates, and Jeanne Crowe, Velma A. Watson, senior literature teacher, chaperoning.

BROADCASTING EXPERIMENT

Fred Watts of physics class is still working on the project of broadcasting from the physics labaratory to the auditorium. Its practical aspects will be demonstrated in chapel and in the Jokers' Jubilee, it is said.

LETTER WRITING STUDIED

The writing of sales and business letters has occupied the attention of the Business English students during the past week. The letters were properly folded and addressed, so that nothing was omitted in learning the technique of letter writing, "one of the most important assets of a secretary."

LOWER SPECIAL ED ELECTS

Earl Gulick and Wilford Jackson were elected mayor and policeman in Miss Iris Fierce's special education.

CORWIN PUPILS ON SCALES

The pupils in the Corwin-st. building are being weighed by the district nurse, Miss Charolette Phelps. She finds 59 are underweight, five pounds or more.

Man's Limitations

Man is the only one that knows nothing, that can learn nothing without being taught. He can neither speak nor walk, nor eat, and in short he can do nothing at the prompting of nature only, but weep. —Pliny the Elder (23-79 A. D.), "Natural History."

KINGSTON

Miss Letitia Brundige entertained on Friday night, Jan. 11, with a bridge dinner, which was served at one long table where the guests were seated. The table was beautifully appointed with silver china and crystal holders with orange colored candles with a center piece of calendulas. Dainty place cards of the same shade as the candles helped the guests to find their places. The guests who enjoyed Miss Brundige's wonderful hospitality were: Mrs. G. W. McGinnis, Mrs. Carson Dreisbach, Mrs. James Wright, Mrs. Paul McGinnis, Mrs. Walter Parker, Mrs. Egbert Freshour, Mrs. F. C. Leasure, Mrs. Robert Cryder, Mrs. Robert Brundige, Mrs. J. P. OPEN ATTACK ON DRY LAW

Sen. Laguardia of New York Plans to Question Constitutionality

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18— The most formidable attack on prohibition since the supreme court upheld the Volstead act was scheduled to be launched in the House today.

Inspired by Rep. Laguardia (R) of New York, the anti-prohibitonists planned to question the constitutionality of the 18th amendment's ratification.

The New Yorker will invoke this issue in the hope of shutting off all appropriations for enforcement of the dry law. Although his move seemed predestined to failure, it carried up tremndous possibilities and may well be carried into the courts for final ruling.

When the House gets around to condiretion today of the $15,000,000 item in the theasury appropriation bill which is intended for enforcement costs, Lacuardia will make a point of order against it on the ground the 18th amendment actually went out of existence three years ago. He will cite the language of the amendment itself to prov his contention.

The point revolves around the question of what measure the necessary 36 states ratified when prohibition was incorporated in the constitution. Laguardia contends that all but ten of them actually acted upon the authorizing resolution sponsored by Senator Morris Sheppard (D) of Texas, and not the actual emendment. He will call attention to the third section of the amendment, which states "this article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the constitution by the legislatures of the several states, as provided in the constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the states by congress." This identic language originally was in the Sheppard resolution.

The indenping battle in the House overshadowed developments in the senate, but th upper house was far from idle in the renewed war over liquor. Wets and drys in the senate were busy sparring fora strategic legislative advantage with the issue centering on whether or not to force a record vote on repeal of the 18th amendment, as provided in a resolution offered by Senator Blaine (R) of Wisconsin.

Highly Humorous

Harry, age four, came home from Sunday school chuckling. "What did you do at Sunday school?" asked his interested mother. "Teacher told us a funny story," giggled Harry. "A funny story," echoed his mother. "What was it about?" "It was about the adventures," was the reply. "of Shadrach Meshach, and a billy goat!"

Physical Peculiarity

Double-jointedness is caused by loose ligaments around the joints. People possessing such ligaments have a wider latitude of movement around the joints than most people and can twist themselves into positions which would not be possible for an ordinary person.

Stamp Adopted in 1844

Postmaster General John M Niles recommended the use of stamps in this country in 1840, almost immediately after their adoption in England, but his suggestion was disdainfully turned down. Not until four years later was their use authorized. Even then congress made no provision for printing them.—Gas Logic.

Device Popularizes Plane

Pianos will not disturb the neighbors if the device invented by a radio enthusiast of Paris is adopted, he believes. Every key struck closes an electric current corresponding to the frequency of the note. This frequency is amplified and reaches a head telephone which the player wears.

Conductor Scored

On a rainy day a lady in a sable coat got on a Madison avenue street car. "I don't suppose I've ridden on a street car in two years," she said to the conductor, a gloomy fellow, as she gave him her fare. "I ride in my own car," she explained. The conductor rang up the fare. "You don't know how we missed you," he said.—The New Yorker.

Married Woman's Name

Actually there is no federal nor, so far as we can ascertain, state law which arbitrarily compels a woman to bear her husband's surname unless she wishes to do so. Recently the United States controller issued an order that married women in the government employ should sign their husband's surnames when signing the pay roll. —Washington Star.
